PLACENTIA MAN KILLED IN FRACAS

HEATER FUEL SUPPLY IS MENACED

Non-Union Drivers Face Threat By Organized Labor Patrol

Battle lines were drawn up today for the first major skirmish in the Southern California trucksters' war. The battle was to be fought under the interested, if not apprehensive, eyes of every citrus rancher in Orange county.

From Santa Barbara to Huntington Beach, sheriff's deputies and members of the state highway patrol marshalled their forces in an effort to prevent union truck drivers in their avowed intention of placing an embargo on oil shipments.

The move is a step in the long drawn out attempt to unionize truck drivers, with the situation aggravated by the seamen's and longshoremen's strike.

On Patrol Duty
An embargo on oil movements would choke off the available supply of fuel for the county's 250,000 orchard heaters, with the first frost of the winter season already imminent.

Along main arteries leading into the Wilmington harbor area, and along roads leading from Signal Hill, Huntington Beach and other oil centers, 47 union automobiles with full crews have been placed on patrol duty.

Orders from union headquarters are to stop all trucks, ascertain the drivers' status and turn the trucks back if the drivers are not union members and refuse to join.

Police, on the other hand, insist stopping of trucks is a direct violation of the law. They have been instructed to stop all such activities.

Fuel Supply Low

The move to unionize truck drivers, if halted, probably will result in calling of a general trucksters' strike, authorities feared, with the resulting strangling of oil movements, spelling disaster to the citrus industry, among others, if a cold snap arrives.

Citrus men admitted they had surplus fuel on hand for only three days of cold weather.

The unions last week attempted to secure an injunction against police interference with their organization plans, and had they secured it they announced 1000 pickets would have been sent into the oil fields.

No further court action was taken by the union, and the plan of sending out flying cars of picketers was adopted in its stead. General unionization would affect 50,000 truck drivers in the metropolitan area.

TRUCK UNIONS BEGIN PICKETING AT HARBOR

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The truck driver's union began a campaign in the Los Angeles harbor today to unionize all oil truck drivers, in the face of police threats to arrest any picketers stopping trucks.

Several hours after the campaign opened, there had been no arrests, no reports of trouble and no reports of trucks being stopped. Scores of police and highway patrolmen were on special duty in the San Pedro, Wilmington and Long Beach areas. Harold Waterbury of San Pedro, business agent of the truck drivers' union along the waterfront, said 47 automobiles containing union men took to the streets and highways this morning to stop trucks in the membership drive.

Richard Seltzer, business agent for the union in Long Beach, said four automobile loads of union men from his jurisdiction were out "looking over the situation" and that trucks bearing windshield stickers showing union membership would not be stopped.

Roosevelt Will Not Run For Third Term

NEW YORK. (AP)—President Roosevelt was represented today as standing firmly against seeking a third term.

George Creel, a former co-worker of Mr. Roosevelt in the Wilson administration, quoted the chief executive, in an article to be published in a national magazine, as saying:

Mussels Merry as Starfish Stabbers Stave off Attack

Thousands upon thousands of helpless little mussels breathed deep sighs of relief today. They nestled contentedly together on the jagged reefs of Laguna Beach, saved from a lingering death at the maws of ever-ravenous starfish by an army of humans which wreaked havoc among the starfish over the week-end.

The major skirmish was staged Saturday afternoon, but Sunday saw hundreds more on Laguna's shores dealing death to the armored invaders, or bringing 'em back alive. It was estimated that more than 1000 persons either took part in the pitched battles against the starfish, or came to watch the wholesale massacre.

Thousands Slain
Focal point in the battle was at Fisherman's cove, where the starfish had gathered in thousands to feast upon the unhappy mollusks. Here the generalissimo, Joe Skidmore, pioneer Lagunan, and Capt. Don Wilkie, former ace secret service agent, directed the attack.

It was impossible to get an accurate idea as to how many starfish were punctured neatly and thoroughly with improvised spears, but thousands of them were either slain outright or carried away by combatants or visitors. Those persons who carried away buckets and pails full of the pretty but dangerous starfish probably aren't so happy today, because a skunk has a delightful aroma when compared with a starfish which (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

On the east coast the situation was enlivened by a dispute between striking insurgent seamen and longshoremen who have remained at work.

In San Francisco federal mediators continued efforts at adjustment of the month-long blockade of the maritime industry. The situation thus far has been relieved only by release of food ships to carry food to strike-bound Alaska.

The coast guard has taken over the task of carrying emergency supplies to Hawaii, with the prospect that a cutter will sail with a cargo of food next Thursday.

The refusal of French longshoremen to unload ships carrying the American flag had repercussions in New York today when longshoremen, who have refused to join the strike, threatened not to unload the steamship Champlain, due Wednesday from France.

MAN CONFESSES 1901 MURDER

CHICAGO. (AP)—The wheels of the law turned today—after 35 years—to grind out justice for Charles Kohr, 64-year-old confessed slayer of his young brother in 1901.

Police Chief Thomas Loney at Belleville, thumbing through yellowed reports of the St. Clair county coroner's office, found recorded there as an "accidental drowning" the death of "Henry J. Kohr, 15."

Chief Loney said he would ask today for a murder warrant against the trembling, gray-haired man in Chicago.

Kohr walked into the central police station last Saturday night. He sought out Sgt. William Murphy.

"All these years my conscience has bothered me," said Kohr. "And now I want to tell it all. I killed my brother."

PRESIDENT IS GREETED BY ARGENTINE

Noisy Welcome Staged In Buenos Aires As Roosevelt Arrives

BUENOS AIRES. (AP)—President Roosevelt, acclaimed by hundreds of thousands, reached here early this afternoon for the opening tomorrow night of the 21-nation peace conference which grew out of his initiative.

The cruiser, Indianapolis, which carried the President on his 12-day trip from Charleston, S. C., docked amid the cheers of a huge throng on shore and the shrieks of whistles on hundreds of vessels in Buenos Aires harbor.

Cruiser Arrives Early
As the Indianapolis reached its dock at 1:34 p. m., swinging past a long breakwater covered with Argentine and United States flags, river craft set up a terrific din of welcome.

The crowds had hardly been ready, for the United States cruiser was ahead of schedule, as it had been when President Roosevelt stopped at Rio de Janeiro en route to Buenos Aires.

Walk On Long Carpet
Along the landing stage a red carpet—an eighth of a mile long—was laid down. From the roof of the landing pavilion green garlands hung, and the stage was decorated with roses and green shrubbery.

Before Mr. Roosevelt left the Indianapolis, the cruiser's band played the Argentine anthem and then the "Star Spangled Banner," in which the Argentine navy band assisted.

The visiting United States President descended the gangplank holding the arm of James Roosevelt, who had re-boarded the vessel.

Greets President Justo
President Roosevelt got into a car at the foot of the gangplank after greeting President Justo, to whom he was introduced by United States Ambassador Alexander W. Weddell.

Then the two executives drove off together along the 50-block route to the United States embassy. Mr. Roosevelt's residence during his stay.

President Roosevelt is to make the opening address when the Inter-American peace parley, proposed by him last winter, gets under way at 6 p. m. tomorrow.

PRISON BREAK FRUSTRATED

LINCOLN, NEB. (AP)—John Giles, Genoa bank robber, and John Larimore, Burt county burglar, slugged two Nebraska penitentiary guards in a futile attempt to escape from the prison today. They were captured by Deputy Warden Frank Weygint.

Louis Kreuger, a guard, was battered about the head with a board and taken to a hospital. Guard Eddie Rogers was overpowered, bound with wire and tossed into an empty cell.

Warden Joseph O. Grady said the attempted break occurred at breakfast time when only two guards were in the west cell block in which Giles, alias George Stubbfield, and Larimore were confined. He said the two fashioned a gun of some sort, had rope, a blackjack and a long rod with which they hoped to scale the walls.

10-Year Term for Youthful Slayer

MEMPHIS, TENN. (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Grady Odell Bowden drew a 10-year reformatory sentence today for the slaying of his stepfather, Ruben A. Barker, 27.

The boy said he poked a rifle through a window screen at his home Oct. 26, and fired into his stepfather's back "because he mistreated my mother."

Britain, France, Belgium Reported Linked by Pact

ALLIANCE DUE TO BE TOLD ON FRIDAY

League Reports Heavy Arms Sales; Russia Strength Revealed

(By the Associated Press)
France, Great Britain and Belgium have formed what virtually amounts to a three-power military accord, informed sources in Paris said today, interpreting the projected pact as signalling a new western European alliance.

French Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos will announce the rapprochement Friday, these sources said, returning Britain's assurance of last week that the powers will come to each other's aid to repel unprovoked aggression.

League Has Fears
Similar guarantees to those extended to Belgium by British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden, authoritative sources said, will mark the French announcement, linking the three states.

As the nations of western Europe turned to one another, League of Nations circles expressed fears that Spain's appeal to the council against the Fascist central European powers of Germany and Italy would further embroil the international situation.

Russia Stands Alone
Russia, in the east, completed the sweep of developments across the continent and disclaimed any need of foreign aid.

GOVERNOR IS ARRESTED

RUTLAND, Vt. (AP)—State's Attorney Asa S. Bloomer issued a warrant today against Gov. Charles M. Smith, president of the Marble Savings bank, charging him with concealing funds. The governor was released in $6000 bail, without being arraigned.

The warrant was served on the governor in his bank office. John J. Cocklin, an officer of the bank, was recently convicted of embezzling $124,000 in bank funds.

Some time ago, Lathrop Baldwin, the bank treasurer, was convicted of perjury in the same case. During the past nine years, the state charges $251,000 has been embezzled from the bank.

Author Fined for Drunk Driving

Paul Mooney, 32, said to be collaborating with Richard Halliburton, author of travel books, in writing another book, was arrested by Officer Paul Johnson at Laguna Beach this morning on a drunk driving charge.

Later he appeared before Judge C. C. Cravath and paid a $50 fine. Halliburton, it was reported, is on his way to New York. The pair have purchased land in Laguna Beach and plan to build a $20,000 home, there, it was reported.

Test of Jobless Insurance Heard

BOSTON. (AP)—After a brief hearing, Federal Judge George C. Sweeney took under advisement today the first test case of the unemployment insurance provision of the social security act.

The act was brought by George P. Davis of Waltham, who, as a stockholder in the Boston and Maine Railroad, sought to prevent payment by the railroad of the unemployment insurance tax.

Judge Sweeney indicated he would announce his decision on or before Dec. 15.

GIRL STAMPED OIL PLAN TO DEATH BE PUSHED

Step-Father's Attack On Child, 14, Told By Her Mother

JESSUP, Ga. (AP)—Sheriff R. Warren announced today the arrest of a 51-year-old itinerant repairman, charged with stamping to death his 14-year-old stepdaughter while the child's mother, bound hand and foot, lay helpless nearby.

The child, bleeding about the mouth and ears, was removed last Wednesday to a hospital in Brunswick, where she died.

Warren said the stepfather, L. R. Ward, reported she had been struck by a "hit-and-run motorist." The sheriff said the accused man denied he struck the girl, but that the mother "told us the most pitiful story I ever heard."

The sheriff said "jealousy" was the motive for the attack. Warren said the mother told him Ward had tied her hands with rope and her feet with chains.

"The little girl weighed 72 pounds. The stepfather weighs about 200," he said.

TRUCK DRIVER ASSAULTED

A youth who assertedly assaulted a truck driver with a heavy instrument, tossed him from his truck, and stole the vehicle, was sought today by deputy sheriffs.

Jacob Wilk, 1966 Brooklyn avenue, Los Angeles, owner of the truck, reported this morning that the youth, 19 years of age and known to him only as "Johnny," assaulted him and robbed him of the truck on Manchester avenue, west of Anaheim, about 11 a. m. today.

Wilk said he was asleep and allowing the youth to drive. Deputy Sheriff Murphree and Fullerton, who investigated, took Wilk to the county hospital, where he was treated for painful head injuries.

Southland Farm Advisors Confer

Farm advisors of Southern California today met with Soil Conservation Service officials here for an all-day discussion of policies and aims and an inspection of the soil conservation project at El Toro.

About 30 officials, including district heads of Soil Conservation Service from Santa Paula and directors of the local office, gathered in the assembly room of Farm bureau hall.

HUNTER HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

George Johnson Is Shot In Argument After Duck Shooting

George Johnson, pioneer Placentia rancher, was shot to death near Brawley Saturday night. Witnesses testified at the inquest that Jack Poe, well known Salton sea area character, turned a shotgun on Johnson, shooting him in the breast from a distance of three feet.

The shooting climaxed a hunting trip of Johnson and Raymond and Frank Trendle of Fullerton in the Brawley district. Poe, witnesses said, had been acting queerly throughout the day, and when an argument concerning loading of boats on trailers started, the Brawley man was reported to have turned his gun on Johnson without warning.

Annoyed Hunters
Further shooting was prevented when the Trendles disarmed the man and tied him with ropes, with the aid of other hunters.

Poe had been hanging around the hunting area for a week talking incoherently and firing his shotgun in the air. T. M. Sharp, chief criminal investigator, said. He had been annoying other hunters and held Mrs. J. M. Colby, Riverside, in her car with threats for more than three hours during absence of men from her camp, the officer said.

According to testimony at a coroner's inquest, Poe attempted to prevent Johnson and the Trendle brothers from loading their boat on a trailer.

Finally Johnson said "See here, we've had enough of this foolishness—what is it you want?" Poe turned upon the Placentia man and fired without warning, witnesses said.

Andrade Aids Probe
Poe, a surveyor, was blamed for the shooting by a coroner's jury, and is held on a murder charge. Officers were aided in their investigation of the shooting by Capt. Marcus Andrade, Anaheim police officer and father-in-law of the victim.

Johnson, a member of a pioneer Placentia family, was born and raised in that district. In addition to Capt. Andrade, he leaves his wife, Mrs. Rena Johnson; two daughters, Mrs. Tom Kinney and Mrs. Charles Curtis; a granddaughter, LaVerne Kinney; a brother, Raymond Johnson, and a sister, Miss Anna Johnson, all of Placentia.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the McCauley and Suters mortuary, Fullerton, with burial in Anaheim cemetery.

14 AUTOS IN ONE CRASH

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Because one driver jammed on his automobile brakes to avoid a rear-end collision, 14 automobiles piled up today on a fog-choked stretch of the high-speed bayshore highway south of here.

Thirteen persons were injured. Mrs. Sigrid Bultuss, 23, of Glendale, Calif., was the only one, however, requiring more than emergency hospital treatment. Her scalp was cut.

Traffic was blocked more than an hour, highway patrolmen diverting it to the nearby El Camino Real.

TWO HURT AS TRUCK HITS CAR TODAY

Auto Turns Over After Being Sideswiped On Capistrano Road

Two San Diego marines were injured this morning when their car, sideswiped by a truck near San Juan Capistrano, overturned. They were given first aid at the county hospital.

Don case, 23, incurred a possible dislocated hip, and Keith Watson, 21, was treated for a fractured finger, and cuts and bruises.

Pedestrian Hurt
Six-year-old Gracia Valdez was in the Santa Ana Valley hospital today under treatment for a fractured leg, incurred this morning when she was struck by a car near Third and Grand streets in front of her home.

J. C. Wilson, 51, Fullerton, was injured Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a car driven by Vincent E. Wagner, 23, San Dimas. Wagner told officers Wilson apparently became confused as he was crossing the 101 highway just north of Anaheim.

Falls Asleep
Jane Walder, 18, Seal Beach, was recovering today from injuries received Friday night when her mother, Mrs. J. J. Walder, 49, fell asleep in her car on the Santa Ana canyon road and the auto sideswiped a car driven by George Albert Knoefler, 51, Arlington.

Cars driven by Mildred Barnson, 1213 South Pardon street, and Adam Anthony Schlansman, 1201 West Fifth street, collided at Fifth and Van Ness streets Saturday afternoon. Neither was injured.

Albert Bradt, Chula Vista, and Donald Warehart, 2003 Bush street, were drivers of cars which collided at Fifth and Main streets Saturday afternoon. Both escaped injury.

NATIVE SON IS CALLED TODAY

William G. Chandler, 46, employed by the Hugh J. Lowe company, died suddenly of a heart attack at 11:40 a. m. today at his home in the Mission Court. He had gone to work as usual, but became ill and returned to his home. A physician was summoned and, after treating Mr. Chandler, left. Chandler then suffered another attack and died before the physician could return.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mildred Chandler, employed in the Orange office of the Bell Telephone company; a daughter, Vivian; three sisters, Miss Della and Miss Carry Chandler, Orange, and Mrs. Mary Kelsey, Lexington, Ky.; three brothers, Henry and Roy, Orange, and Morgan, Anaheim. CROONER BING IS BATTLED Socks Heckler In San Diego

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Bing Crosby's reputation as a battling crooner flourished today, based on a couple of blows outside a San Diego cafe which he denied were aimed at heckling sailors of the United States fleet.

"The navy was on our side," explained Crosby to his brother, Larry, who as business manager has to worry about damage suits and such.

"There wasn't much to it—a poke or two—but it was all settled to everybody's satisfaction. Let's forget it."

MARKET PLAN CITY TO GET WILL HELP GROWERS

Proposed shorter selling hours on the Los Angeles produce exchange may bring Orange county vegetable growers a better bargaining position and higher prices, growers learned Saturday at a regional meeting of the California Farm Bureau at Chino.

Now opening at 11 p. m., the produce market may open instead at 4 a. m., vegetable men were told. This would require buyers to order quickly, rather than delay purchases until farmers are ready to "unload" at any price offered, it was said.

Refunds Requested
The regional group adopted a resolution, however, asking that the receiving hours of the market be retained so the deliveries may be made at night.

They asked also that refunds on lug boxes be continued if possible. Commission merchants have indicated they will discontinue allowances for lugs.

Tomato men, who feel that they have not secured proper prices from canneries, started action for better prices by authorizing each county Farm Bureau to work with northern California committees in establishing tomato prices for 1937.

Oppose Milk Plan
Also discussed tentatively was the possibility of cooperative canneries operated by growers. A canner in northern California operated successfully this year and will treble its output in 1937, it was reported.

Dairymen reaffirmed their stand against compulsory pasteurization of all milk and recommended that inspection procedure be revised to eliminate duplications of dairy and milk inspection.

They asked that the state provide supervisors who would unify the inspections in the different counties.

lived in Orange and vicinity all of his life. He was member of the Christian church and Orange B. P. O. E. Funeral services, in charge of the Gilgilly funeral home, will be announced later.

Attempts of the six children of W. H. Peterkin, Orange, to break a will in which he distributed his $28,000 estate among 14 distant relatives failed today when Superior Judge H. G. Ames granted a respondents' motion for non-suit, and kept the case from going to the jury.

Judge Ames ruled that abnormality on the part of Peterkin, admittedly proven, did not constitute testamentary incapacity.

Attorneys Charles D. Swanner and R. Y. Williams for the contestants immediately took steps to obtain a new trial.

Defense Attorney Otto Jacobs, in arguing his motion for non-suit, claimed contestants had failed to introduce any evidence of incapacity, although they had shown Peterkin to be abnormally "brutal to his children," and to be abnormal in other ways.

The contestants were Edward H. Peterkin, Brea; William Peterkin, Orange; George Peterkin, Costa Mesa; Mrs. May Riley, Orange; Mrs. Mabel Baier, Orange, and Miss Bertha Peterkin, Orange.

Police Here Seek Firebug
A firebug who attempted to burn a row of vacant apartments owned by Fred English, 1805 West Second street, last night, was sought by city police and firemen today.

Firemen, who arrived before the blaze made headway, said they found kerosene in the building. They estimated the damage at only $25. Only an inside wall was burned.

SEATTLE. (AP)—For the first time in 15 weeks, carrier boys delivered the Seattle Post-Intelligencer to homes today.

Presses rolled out a 48-page edition—a week-day record—in celebration of settlement of an editorial strike by the American Newspaper Guild which closed the plant Aug. 13.

The newspaper's new publisher, John Boettiger, President Roosevelt's son-in-law, sped toward Seattle with his wife, the former Anna Eleanor Roosevelt. She will write for the P-I.

LABOR FIGHTS M'KAGUE IS QUERIED IN RACE CASE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Declaring 575,000 workers in four large industries are paid below "today's minimum health wage," the American Federation of Labor said today "wage increases must not stop."

"Only by large and continuing increases can we create a market great enough for capacity production and full employment," the federation's monthly survey of business continued.

"To create a 'capacity production' living level at today's prices would require an income of $3623 for every family in the United States. . . . For the vast majority, we must count on steady upward progress, striving first to lift the minimum health level."

The federation said statistics on wages in the cigarette, paper box, automobile and steel industries showed that 63 per cent of all workers in these fields receive the 73 cents an hour which it considers "today's minimum health wage." Only in these industries, it said, are adequate records available.

Grand Jury Probe
Details of the ring, which officers said was flooding the United States with worthless tickets on the Santa Anita Handicap, were placed before the Los Angeles county grand jury today. At a late hour no indictments had been returned.

Federal and Los Angeles county officers are continuing investigation following the arrest of four men and questioning of several others.

Howard Acheson, one of four arrested, gave his address as Santa Ana.

"The investigation may go on for a week or more," Inspector Stensland said. "We jumped in quickly and made arrests instead of waiting for more evidence, so that we could stop this swindle."

Tickets Worthless
While thousands of tickets had been sold when officers launched raids, hundreds of thousands of tickets were being distributed throughout the West for sale, he said. They were believed printed in Mexico and smuggled across the border through Texas.

Tickets, offered for sale at $1 each, are worthless, officers said. They promise prizes of from $100 to $50,000.

Officials in several Southern California counties may be arrested in connection with the fraud, Stensland said.

BLOOD DONORS ARE ASKED
Friends of Miss Alice James, 28, Newport Beach writer and former newspaperwoman, appealed today for blood donors to save her from a rare blood disease, leukemia.

At the county hospital, where she is under treatment, she has undergone four transfusions and must have several more, it was announced. The disease is one in which red corpuscles fail to develop. The first appeal for blood was broadcast over KVOE last night.

Healthy young men make the best donors of blood, friends from Newport Beach said. They asked that volunteers give their names to Dr. Eastman at the county hospital.

Miss James has been ill for nearly a month, it was reported today. Coming here three years ago from Chicago, where she was a newspaper reporter, she has been "ghost writing" for others and working on a novel. She rooms at 509 West Central avenue with Miss Billie Conklin, another writer.

Cast for 'Judgment Day' Is Largest In Local History

When the Santa Ana Community Players present Elmer Rice's powerful drama, "Judgment Day," on Dec. 9, 10, 11 and 12, they will assemble the largest cast of speaking parts in the history of the group. Of the more than 30 players in the cast, 16 have appeared in previous productions, while 15 are making their initial appearance.

McKague appeared voluntarily at the Los Angeles sheriff's office, Inspector Stensland said. McKague, taken Friday for questioning, was not arrested, as previously announced, or taken to jail, Inspector Stensland said.

Several of the old players won acclaim for their work together in "The Bellamy Trial," courtroom success of last fall. Among these is Ray A. Hinson, county superintendent, who will be remembered for his sincere interpretation of the doctor; Marion Bruner, who did excellent work in that and in "The Bill of Divorcement;" Robert Guild, who gave a finished and restrained performance as the accused Stephen Bellamy, and Franklin West, local attorney, who played a dynamic, aggressive prosecuting attorney with great finesse, and will, to a certain extent, repeat his role in "Judgment Day."

Harold Fish, connected with the First National bank, has appeared in several local plays, but his outstanding work was probably done in "Hay Fever," sparkling comedy produced this fall. Daniel Brown, a member of the state board of equalization, played the title role in "Cock Robin," while John Colwell, attorney, has played widely varied roles, among which was that of Patrick Ives in "The Bellamy Trial."

Earl Abbey, coroner and former court clerk, will play the part of the latter in "Judgment Day," thus adding further to the illusion of reality in the play.

Among the many others who have been prominent in the community plays are the versatile J. Leslie Steffensen, and Jeanne Ann Kay, who established herself as an excellent character actress in "Hay Fever."

LEPERS WANT FREEDOM

MANILA, P. I. (AP)—The lepers of the Philippines, thousands of them, want their freedom. To go and come as they will, instead of being segregated in colonies and hospitals.

Agitation among the lepers for unconditional freedom began several years ago when a member of the old legislature offered a bill which would have freed them from government segregation. In recent weeks this agitation has taken the form of open demonstrations in the colony of 6000 lepers on Culion island and at San Lazaro hospital in Manila.

The San Lazaro lepers gave the Manila police much worry recently when 300 escaped from the hospital and made an orderly march to Malacanang palace, residence of President Manuel L. Quezon, to demand their liberty. They were received by the president's secretary and then herded back to San Lazaro by the police. Twenty-eight leaders of the demonstration were banished to Culion, largest leper colony in the world.

Shortly after this event Philippine army authorities were asked to send soldiers to Culion, as it was feared that widespread unrest among the lepers there might result in violence.

Meanwhile the government is ignoring the plea for freedom, holding that medical science has yet to prove that leprosy is not contagious.

EDEN DAMPENS HOPES OF TRI-PARTY PACT
LONDON. (AP)—Foreign Minister Anthony Eden dampened French hopes of a tri-party military accord between Great Britain, France and Belgium today.

"His majesty's government," the youthful foreign minister told the house of commons, "has explicitly deprecated any tendency to divide the world into conflicting camps. Our policy continues to promote friendly relations between all nations."

SAILORS ATTACK SAMARITAN

George F. Moss of Los Angeles is awfully tired of sailors.

He told Laguna Beach police his troubles this morning, claiming that sailors aren't nice people at all. In fact, he intimated, they're a bunch of meaneys.

Moss is angry because he picked up three sailor hitch-hikers early this morning near Long Beach. They stopped for a rest in a cottage at Laguna. Moss cooked a breakfast of ham and eggs for the travelers and for two friends riding with him. When the friends left for another cottage, the sailors jumped on Moss, he said. One held his hands, one grabbed him around the neck and the other swatted him on the head. Moss told police. Moss displayed a bruise on the side of his head. He also said he had been tied with a towel.

Then the sailors left. They took Moss' pocketbook, his wristwatch and his sedan with them. Police are searching for the ungrateful trio and sympathizing with Moss.

Accompanying the Los Angeles man on the trip were L. H. Sonnenberg, Los Angeles, and R. T. Lemon, San Pedro.

LEGAL BARRAGE FOR WAR HERO

One of the heroes of the famed lost battalion faced another barrage today, only this one was laid down by attorneys arrayed against him in his $15,000 damage suit against the West Coast Santa Ana theater corporation.

He is Capt. Nelson M. Holderman, former Santa Ana, now commander of a veteran's home at Napa, Calif. He was one of the few survivors of the famous battalion during the World war.

He and Mrs. Holderman are suing for damages allegedly suffered when she fell down while entering the loge seats at the West Coast theater, Feb. 23, 1935.

She claims she suffered permanent injury to her leg and knee. Superior Judge H. G. Ames today appointed Dr. John Ball to make an examination of her injury, on motion of Defense Attorney Sidney A. Moss.

Representing Mr. and Mrs. Holderman in the action are B. Z. McKinney, Santa Ana, and Wallace Rutherford, Napa attorney.

POLICE REPORTS

Jack Wren, 111 South Birch street, reported theft of his bicycle from 209 South Flower street, Saturday afternoon. Somebody had just borrowed it for a ride, however, and returned it at 7 p. m.

Six cans of ham were missing today after falling from a truck in the downtown district, it was reported by C. E. Strom, 815 West Cubbon street.

Harold Chilcoat, 22, transient, was jailed on vagrancy charges early yesterday after Merchant Patrolman F. W. Lockhart—minus his gun and badge after a squabble with a competitor last week—found him sleeping in an auto on a South Main street used car lot.

A dead crow on West Seventeenth street wasn't police business because it was outside the city limits, officers were relieved to find. They called the sheriff's office.

"A man asleep in a vacant lot" reported by R. C. Huber, 820 Haladay street, turned out to be a visitor to Santa Ana who had been celebrating. He told police he had stopped for a nap in the vacant lot. They took him to the home of friends.

Proctors were reported last night by Mrs. R. Thompson, 511 East Washington avenue, but had fled before police arrived.

When Peggy Young, 18, Carlsbad, N. M., found she was locked out of her apartment house here early this morning, Police Matron Dorothy Russick took her to a hotel.

City court traffic fines: Speeding—Floyd Elwood Jones, $6; George E. Frank, $6; D. Edward Streeter, $6. Parking—P. A. Hoodan, $1; Alfred C. Booney, $1; Lester Almer, $1.

JOURNALISM FRATERNITY HONORS ROSPAWS

By HELEN SMITH-MABE

Frank Rospaw, editor of the Placencia Courier and president of the California Newspaper Publishers' association, and Mrs. Rospaw, a recognized newspaper woman in her own right, were formally initiated into Alpha Phi Gamma as associate members Sunday. The largest national coeducational journalistic fraternity for colleges in the United States conferred this honor upon Mr. and Mrs. Rospaw Sunday morning at the Embassy hotel, Los Angeles.

The initiation of Mr. and Mrs. Rospaw into Alpha Phi Gamma gives formal recognition by colleges in the United States to their contribution to the promotion of journalism and their success in the field of newspaper work.

Rospaw Is Speaker
Among some of the Alpha Phi Gamma's prominently recognized associate members are such people as Arthur Brisbane, John Henry Nash, publisher of exclusive editions; Ed Ainsworth, state editor of The Los Angeles Times; Lee Shippey, editor of the column, "Lee Side o' L. A."; John Long, general manager of the C. N. P. A.; and Ray Brown, vice president of the C. N. P. A.

Alpha Phi Gamma and its junior college affiliate, Beta Phi Gamma, chose Rospaw as their main speaker for the western division convention banquet held Saturday night at the Embassy hotel. Before 86 delegates representing all western chapters, Rospaw spoke on journalism in universities and discussed the possibility of a school of journalism for the University of California, and the future probability of a degree in journalism being offered by this institution.

Brings Greetings
He asked for the cooperation of Alpha and Beta Phi Gamma in promoting this movement, stressing the importance and need for such a school in our universities in California, and the benefits to be derived by students of journalism.

Mrs. Rospaw, also an honored guest and speaker, brought greetings from the federation of women's clubs to the fraternities. John A. Smith, Jr., national president of Alpha Phi Gamma, and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Smith of Santa Ana, presided during the banquet and conducted the initiation of Mr. and Mrs. Rospaw. He extended the honor of associate membership to them during the banquet.

After the banquet Mr. and Mrs. Rospaw accompanied the fraternity on a tour of The Los Angeles Times building.

CITY GETS YSMAEL'S GOAT He Says Animal Was Stolen

Somebody's got Ysmael's goat. There ought to be a Biblical parallel there, something about Ishmael and goats and rams. It's supposed to be in Genesis, something about Ishmael.

Anyway, this one's spelled Ysmael. He's Ysmael Esqueda, and he lives on Emmet street, and somebody's got his goat.

He told police about it Saturday, when he saw a goat that he said was his, placidly munching tin cans or whatever goats eat, on Adams street.

Officers went and looked the goat over. Looked just like any other goat. Ysmael found a fellow named Y. Maciel, who said he sold Ysmael a goat about two years ago. This, he said, was the same goat. Ysmael said this goat had been stolen a year ago.

It was too much for the officers, who hadn't found anything about Ishmael or Ysmael in the records, either. They called Poundmaster H. D. Pickering to take care of the animal and feed it tin cans—or whatever goats eat, until the business was straightened out.

Happy Birthday

The Journal today congratulates: MRS. O. V. BARTON, 501 East Chestnut street, Santa Ana.

HOUSE BURGLARIZED

Clothes, cameras, and other personal property worth approximately $150 were stolen Saturday afternoon from the W. V. Foster home on Brookhurst road, according to a report at the sheriff's office. Foster said he was absent for only a few hours, and returned to find the house ransacked.

CHARGE ASSAULT

Charged with attacking his wife with a knife, Ernest Garcia of Atwood was arrested by sheriff's officers today on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and booked at the county jail.

OVER-LAPPING TAXES ARE REVEALED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A treasury study of over-lapping taxes disclosed today that while the federal government was raising more than $2,000,000,000 from six sources of revenue last year, the states obtained more than $1,000,000,000 from the same sources.

The report embraced a study of eight state levies, six of which are duplicated by federal imposts. Both state and federal revenues from the six taxes—those on estates, individual incomes, corporate incomes, gasoline, liquor and tobacco—totalled $3,321,300,000 in 1935.

Of this aggregate, it was shown in the report and other treasury statistics, $2,271,400,000, or about two-thirds, went to the federal government and $1,049,900,000 to the states.

Revenue to the states from the entire eight taxes, including those on general sales and motor registrations, was set at $1,654,800,000 last year, compared with $1,262,800,000 in 1930.

In both years, gasoline taxes accounted for a major portion of the revenue with receipts from this source reported at $589,200,000 last year and $470,000,000 in 1930.

General sales taxes, which were in effect in only two states and provided $1,200,000 in 1930, pumped $284,400,000 into the treasuries of 25 states last year.

STAR REJOINS DONS AGAINST LOS ANGELES

Column Left

By PAUL WRIGHT

THUMBNAIL SKETCHES OF J. C. ALL-CONFERENCE

Created by the Eastern conference sports writers association of which the Santa Ana Journal is a member, the stream-lined 1936 edition of the mythical all-junior college football varsity is introduced today in these columns.

Column Left has prepared a thumb-nail sketch of the all-conference players, and personally nominates for the all-coaches' award, Santa Ana's own Bill Cook and Blanchard Beatty.

FIRST ELEVEN

Left end—Fred Erdhaus, 188 pounds, a two-year letterman at Santa Ana. Fred was just another wingman last fall who kept himself in the background with knee injuries. Outstanding in basketball, a sport in which he gained all-conference recognition in February, he returned to college in September in a football frame of mind. Erdhaus blossomed into a flossy pass receiver and a bear-cat on defense. Stanford and Arizona are seeking his services.

Left tackle—Ray Brown, 195 pounds, a one-year letterman at Citrus. Ray, the all-Southern California prep from Anaheim, enrolled at U. S. C. two years ago, later transferring to the little junior college at Azusa, where he became a stonewall on defense under Coach Al Cifers.

Left guard—Howard Rash, 165 pounds, a two-year letterman at Santa Ana. An excellent blocker, Howard has been responsible for much of the success of the Don champions. Coach Bill Cook rates him the equal of Sammy Tucker, the University of Arizona who was a standout at junior college here in '33. Rash is truly a small bundle of dynamite.

Center—Harold Wieman, 180 pounds, a two-year letterman at San Bernardino. Wieman played such spectacular ball on defense for the Indians last year that he was elected captain at the close of the season. He can play tackle and guard equally well.

Right guard—Carl Benson, 190 pounds, a letterman at Santa Ana. Benson has attained the recognition he has deserved so long. A bear-cat at Tustin, he nevertheless was passed up when all-county eleven were selected. Carl is a deadly tackler.

Right tackle—Leon Utman, 190 pounds, a two-year letterman at Chaffey. Utman made the all-conference at guard last year. He captained the Panthers this fall, and kept the score down with numerous tackles in the opposition's backfield. Played a whale of a game against the Dons.

Right end—Earl Gieseke, 185 pounds, a two-year letterman at Riverside. The co-captain of the Bengals was a threat on offense, going down after long passes from Lloyd Leest and foxing the opposition with keen deception. His defensive work was superior, too.

Quarterback—Brilliant Bill Greschner, 165 pounds, a two-year letterman at Santa Ana. Nowhere in jaycee ranks will be found a classier all-around back than Greschner. Particularly adept at catching passes, No. 57 also has been formidable as a ball-carrier and is better than ordinary at punting. They call him a human jackrabbit on near-10 second legs. Stanford wants him.

Left halfback—John Lehnhardt, 185 pounds, a two-year letterman at Santa Ana. Leaving this Don threat off the first eleven would have been an unpardonable crime. His deadly line smashes for that "extra yard" and his bullet-like passes to Erdhaus and Greschner have been major factors in keeping the champions out of the loss column. Lehnhardt plans to follow the Hapes brothers—Ray and Clarence—to the University of Mississippi.

Right halfback—Lloyd Leest, 180 pounds, a one-year letterman at Riverside. Lloyd came up from Riverside High, where he gained all-Citrus Belt league rating as a triple-threat. His passes bothered the Dons in their 13-6 victory at Riverside, and had other Bengal rivals in constant "hot water," too. Leest will be back next year.

Fullback—John Casey, 195 pounds, a one-year letterman at Pomona. The Eastern conference's scoring champion with 36 points, the mighty Casey changed Pomona from a door-mat to a respected member of the league. He was slated for the University of California, but suddenly changed his mind, and probably will remain with Joe Bonnett's Red Raiders again next fall.

SECOND ELEVEN

Left end—Co. Capt. Al Tintensor, 190 pounds, a two-year letterman at Santa Ana. This department rated Tintensor the equal of Riverside's Gieseke, and has put in several plugs for him. Al substitutes steadiness for flashiness, and as his coach puts it, "can be counted on during every minute of the game."

Left tackle—Russell (Rusty) Roquet, 210 pounds, a one-year letterman at Santa Ana. Roquet, who gained all-county league recognition at Anaheim, is certain to make the all-jaycee club next fall. Many thought he rated it this year. He kicks off to the goal line, and can play fullback as well as tackle and guard.

Center—Bob Holmes, 195 pounds, a two-year letterman at Santa Ana. Like Tintensor, Holmes is one of the best defensive players of the Dons. Only his sometimes erratic passing kept him off the first eleven.

Right guard—Ralph Blackwood, 205 pounds, Pomona.

Right tackle—Harold Lauterborn, 180 pounds, Fullerton. Lauterborn was named on the first club last fall.

Right end—Bill Timmons, 170 pounds, Citrus.

Quarterback—Bobby Templeton, 170 pounds, San Bernardino.

Right halfback—Ben Wasichen, 170 pounds, Pomona. A deadly passer.

Fullback—Ernie Poore, 165 pounds, Citrus.

These two elevens, perhaps, comprise the most formidable array of talent ever produced by the Eastern J. C. conference.

Pittsburgh, Yale Gridders Dominate All-East Eleven

By ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK, (AP)—Pittsburgh and Yale, representing separate competitive spheres in one of the most exciting seasons in the history of football's original battle ground, monopolized honors today in the all-Eastern selections, compiled by the Associated Press.

Comparatively little argument developed over the selection of the East's outstanding linemen, except in naming the No. 1 center.

The all-Eastern first team selections follow:

Position	Name	Age	Hgt.	Wgt.	Home Town
End	Lawrence M. Kelley, Yale	21	6:01	185	Williamsport, Pa.
Tackle	Averell Daniell, Pitt	22	6:03	200	Mt. Lebanon, Pa.
Guard	Nathan Pierce, Fordham	23	5:08	185	Bideford, Me.
Center	Mike Basrak, Duquesne	24	6:02	214	Belleaire, Ohio
Guard	William Glassford, Pitt	21	5:11	192	Lancaster, Ohio
Tackle	Charles Toll, Jr., Princeton	20	6:05	222	Amherst, Mass.
End	William Daddio, Pitt	19	6:01	175	Meadville, Pa.

Coleman May Snap Kudo's Winning Streak

JONATHAN TO FACE STEIN TONIGHT

Highway Arena Program Also Shows Strelch, Martinez and Aim

Can Baby Bob Coleman, claimant to the world middleweight wrestling championship, accomplish a feat that men twice his size have failed to do within the past few months—batter down the powerful Japanese mat king, Kiman Kudo—in a three-fall wrestling encounter?

This question will be answered tonight at the Orange County Athletic club when the pair of mat-burning grapplers clash in their long awaited "classic."

Studies Kudo's Style Coleman claims he has what it takes to beat Kudo—a devastating flying tackle. The popular youngster who has been the most consistent winner here, except Kudo, claims he has studied Kudo's style and is convinced from watching and wrestling him he can't avoid a tackle and will fold up under terrific body smashes.

In recent weeks Kudo has beaten the giant Brother Jonathan, Sandor Szabo and has sent Vincent Lopez to the hospital and on the shelf for two months.

Brother Jonathan, wild and woolly, and one of the few wrestlers local mat fans want to "put in his place," may get dumped all over the place in the other three-fall main event tonight. He faces Sammy Stein, former all-America tackle, and a man who hits harder with the tackle than any one man in the game.

Zim vs. Martinez Stein, back from a long layoff due to eye trouble, has been winning over topnotchers with ease in recent months, and is expected to take the bearded Utah giant in stride.

Two of the best one-fall matches ever billed by Promoter Sam Sampson show Steve Strelch, the sensational flying head scissor expert, meeting Ad (Bomber) Herman, another topnotcher, 220-pound Mexican star who has won three consecutive matches here, mixing with Tarzan Zim, colorful bare-footed American.

GRID COACHES MAY ALTER PASS RULE

By SID FEDER NEW YORK, (AP)—The finish of football's fantastic campaign for the season, from all indications, will be the signal for the firework to start popping over the forward-pass interference ruling.

With game or touchdown decisions in some 20 major meetings this season adding to the row started by last year's Army-Notre Dame tie, it seems hardly likely the affected coaches are going to sit back without taking a crack at the currently most-discussed ruling in the books.

When Navy trimmed the Army by a touchdown Saturday as a direct result of getting the ball on the West Pointers' three-yard line through such an interference penalty, it probably was the "payoff" penalty which will lead to "high-pressure" for alteration of the ruling.

This year, in addition to the Army-Navy affair, Princeton was able to tie Dartmouth, Washington State beat out California and Michigan State managed to dead-lock Boston college, through pass interference rulings.

In addition, touchdowns were scored in games when coast to coast through penalties inflicted for illegally blocking pass receivers, and in many instances, only the football fates saved a ball game. In this respect, is the "break" Yale received in getting the ball on the one-yard line against Dartmouth in the game's closing minutes, with the winning touchdown just ahead. Only the fact that the Ells were unable to cash in enabled the Indians to pull out a victory.

Every Section The rule gives the offended team the ball on the enemy one-yard line if the interference is called in the end zone, or at the point of interference if it occurs elsewhere.

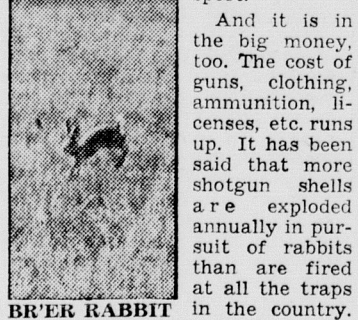

Every section this year had its instances of the interference ruling at important spots. Washington State was able to drop California by a single point after the Cougars' winning touchdown had been set up through the penalty. Georgia Tech could have tied Auburn by scoring the extra point after being handed a touchdown in this manner.

Coach Gil Doble of Boston college had a big argument with an official after Western Maryland scored on such a "break," although his team won the game. Southern Methodist scored against Baylor; Colgate against Syracuse; Auburn against Florida; Duke against Northwestern, and Michigan against Michigan State, to mention a few of the games in which the penalty was invoked at important moments.

The SPORTSMAN

By Larry Bauer

A little dabbling in statistics shows that rabbit hunting, next to fishing, has more devotees than any other form of outdoor sport.

BREER RABBIT

To thousands the lowly cottontail affords the only shooting available. The little animals are found near large cities and in populous countryside after all other game has fled.

They are prolific and a reasonably dry spring always assures a good crop. Excessive rain during the breeding season drowns many young in the nests. Like ruffed grouse, rabbits are subject to cyclical declines.

Much has been said about tularemia, or "rabbit fever," which is a plague-like disease of rodents. All hunters should be cautious about killing rabbits that are sluggish and do not try to make the customary quick get-away. Only a sick rabbit will refuse to run when danger approaches.

... AND THE BEAGLE

Prevention calls for the wearing of rubber gloves while handling rabbits, and washing the hands with a strong antiseptic solution after handling. If there is a skin eruption or small cut on the hands do not handle the rabbits at all. A great many men and boys shoot rabbits with small rifles when they find the animals "sitting." Such methods may lead to infection unless preventive measures are followed, as "sitters" are likely to be sick.

The better way, and the sporting way, is to kick the cottontails out, and if they scud through the weeds like a gray streak there is not much wrong with 'em.

If you haven't spent a day afield with a pair of beagles you've missed something in the way of rabbit hunting. The way these little hounds give tongue on a frosty morning thrills any sportsman's heart.

However, we've enjoyed many a rabbit hunt with farmer boys and their pet beagles, some of which seemed to hunt by sight from the way they would jump into the air above the weeds and brush.

Out in the plains country, where the big jacks look like antelope, a favorite sport is shooting them with rifles from automobiles. Hitting a running jack with a 25-20 from a moving car is not easy—but it is a lot of fun trying.

Pigeon Season Opens

FAIR HUNTING PREDICTED

Sportsmen Also Plan to Gun for Quail in San Diego This Week

California's pigeon season will open tomorrow, according to United States bulletins, at which time it will be legal to take 10 pigeons per day and to have not more than 10 pigeons in one's possession.

As in the case of waterfowl, the band-tail pigeon may be taken only with shot-guns, larger than the 10-gauge, and capable of holding not more than three shells. Shooting with rifles is unlawful.

Shooting hours for pigeons are more liberal than with waterfowl, the hours being 7 a. m. to sunset. The season extends from Dec. 1 to Dec. 15.

Inquiry in the wooded areas of the county, where the birds customarily are found, reveals there has been no general migration south to date, also that the acorn crop is short and not likely to attract great numbers, even if colder weather should drive them from northern feeding grounds.

The duck season in California ends today; and duck hunters, like pigeon shooters, are hoping for cold stormy weather within the next few days in order to bring down a northern flight of birds.

Tomorrow also marks the opening of the quail season in San Diego county, where several Orange county hunters plan to go in pursuit of the game. Locally the quail season opened Nov. 15. The quail season will extend to the end of December.

CHURCH FIVES OPEN SKED

Although final schedule and other arrangements will not be closed until a 7 o'clock meeting at the Y. M. C. A., the Community Church Basketball league will launch play in a doubleheader at 7:30 tonight.

The Nazarenes of Santa Ana will play the United Brethren quintet in the preliminary, with the Nazarenes of Midway City furnishing the opposition for Christian Missionary Alliance in the nightcap.

HIGH-LOW GOLF CROWN NEARS

Four sets of male golfers remained in the running today for the annual high-low championship at the Santa Ana Country club.

They were J. K. McDonald and C. P. Patton, who eliminated W. C. Fletcher and N. W. Miller last week; L. D. Coffing and C. W. Jordan, who defeated C. D. Holmes, Jr., and Clarence Holles; Dick Ewert and J. W. Beach, who eliminated Ross Hostetler and Bob Miller; and Dean Campbell and Dean Coliver, who defeated W. W. (Bill) Foote and M. A. Patton.

In low-ball partner play, Ross Hostetler and Bob Miller carded a 71-83 for first place Saturday. Runners-up were L. D. Coffing and C. W. Jordan, 74-86, and Ted Burkett and Jack Robertson, 70-84-66.

which the penalty was invoked at important moments.

Pop Warner Plans Walks Instead of Drill For Temple

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Glen S. (Pop) Warner, creator of numerous football innovations, added another to his list today. Before his Temple university football party of 55 left yesterday for a game with St. Mary's in San Francisco Saturday, Warner said no practices would be held during the trip.

Long walks are planned, instead, during stopovers in Chicago, Omaha and Ogden, Utah.

Jay Bergwanger, former Chicago football star, turned actor and appeared in "Campus Capers" in Chicago over the week-end.

Stub Allison, California coach, may not know it, but he's going to be offered a new five-year contract with a fat raise. Eastern schools are after Stub, who has been working for "depression wages," less than $10,000 per year.

Most southern coaches agree Louisiana State is easily the best team in Dixie. But it still looks like Alabama for the Rose Bowl because Washington will do the inviting, and Washington wants to get even for that licking Alabama handed it some years back. One or two eastern writers are campaigning to have Penn nominated.

Los Angeles May Land Braddock-Louis Battle

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Joe Levy, veteran local promoter, said today there is a "50-50" chance of a Braddock-Louis championship fight in Los Angeles in February.

Back from a New York visit as representative of a Los Angeles sporting syndicate, Levy asserted he had offered Braddock $300,000 to put his heavyweight title in the ring. Levy said:

"It was the same offer Braddock received from 'Muggsy' Taylor, Atlantic City promoter. Both Joe Gould, Braddock's manager, and Mike Jacobs, who handles Louis, are willing to transfer the fight here, providing it doesn't go through at Atlantic City."

ORANGE BOWS TO REDONDO

County Champions Close Year with Six Wins, Three Defeats

Paced by Capt. John (Mickey) Colmer, a smashing 200-pounder at fullback, the Sea Hawks of Redondo Beach eliminated Orange High school's outweighted varsity, 26 to 0, in the first round of the C. I. F. football playoffs at Redondo Saturday.

The standard-bearers of the Orange league completed an exhaustive 11-game schedule on which Stewart White and Mike Santa Cruz coached their orange-clad preps to six victories and two ties against only three defeats.

Orange's fine record:

0	Santa Ana	12
0	Whittier	13
19	Oceanside	7
0	Tustin	1
20	Brea-Olinda	4
6	Huntington Beach	0
13	Newport Harbor	7
7	Garden Grove	0
18	Anaheim	6
18	Laguna Beach	7
0	Redondo Beach	26
95		97

Redondo, Bay league finalist, was too heavy and too good, as the score clearly indicates. The dynamic Colmer scored one touchdown, passed to End Allen and Quarterback Bowman for two others, and place-kicked two conversions for a profitable afternoon's work. He passed to Bowman for 18 yards and the first score, and rounded end two minutes later for 53 yards and another touchdown in the second quarter. Jim Ogle, reserve fullback, scored on a two-yard plunge, and Colmer tossed a 16-yard aerial to Allen for Redondo's final touchdown in the third period.

Long Beach Poly, carrying the colors of the Coast league of which Santa Ana is a member, buried Santa Barbara, 23-7, at Santa Barbara. Coach Orin Landreth's Jack-rabbits have drawn El Monte, San Gabriel league champions, in the second round at Burcham field, Long Beach, Saturday. Redondo will play Glendale, Foothill league finalist, in the second round. The game probably will be held at Glendale.

LOCAL NETTERS UPSET, 9 TO 6

CHOOSE ROSE BOWL RIVAL THIS WEEK

Graduate Manager Will Announce Washington Opponent in L. A.

By FRANK GORRIE SEATTLE, (AP)—Seattle football fans were confident today Alabama or Louisiana State would be chosen to meet the University of Washington in the annual Rose Bowl football game.

Sometime this week, possibly by Wednesday, Ray Eckmann, Washington athletic director, will name the opponent for the Huskies in the Pasadena New Year's day battle.

He was on his way south today to confer with Stanford and tournament of roses officials before selecting the eastern or south-eastern opposition. He will make the announcement in Los Angeles, he said.

Consider Two Teams

If a school other than Alabama or Louisiana State is named, it will be a big surprise to close friends of Eckmann.

Before he left yesterday with three assistants, Eckmann intimated that the contenders had narrowed down to the two south-eastern teams which have impressive records of no defeats and a tie each.

And he hinted it might take a flip of a coin to decide between them. This indicated it was a toss-up between Alabama and Louisiana State, and that Pittsburgh, Duke and others, already had been eliminated from serious consideration.

It is no secret that Washington would like best to get another crack at Minnesota, the highest ranking team in the country, but the "Big Ten" conference prohibits post-season games.

In the opening game of the season here, Washington lost to Minnesota, 14-7, but scored twice as many first downs and gained more yardage than the Gophers, Minnesota.

Student sentiment seems to favor Alabama and the opportunity to rub out a 20 to 19 defeat the Southerners tagged on Washington at a Rose Bowl engagement in 1926.

Worth $50,000 Each

The students, however, have nothing to say about it, and the officials are interested primarily in the most representative team—and the best drawing card, because after all, the financial end means something to graduate managers. The Rose Bowl game is usually worth about $50,000 to each school.

Louisiana State gained many new supporters by its 33-to-0 victory over Tulane Saturday and few persons were willing to venture a prediction on Eckman's final selection.

In the meantime Coach Jimmy Phelan gave the Washington squad a two-week rest. The Huskies were defeated in a conference competition, closing the league season "Thanksgiving day with a 40-to-6 route of Washington State college.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

R. L. PATTERSON, J. P. Greeley, Phil Stanton, Harry Williamson and Harry Welch, in my mind, should get the credit for Newport's big celebration Saturday.

Pat Patterson, Mr. Greeley and Highway Commissioner Stanton are largely responsible for obtaining the huge highway overpass at The Arches. The two Harrys, Williamson and Welch, plus my good but critical friend, Sam Meyer, were responsible for the fine celebration marking completion of the aqueduct.

The folks who popped down and admired the big bridge and ate the wonderful luncheon at the yacht club, don't know anything of the pains, trials and tribulations of building that aqueduct. But, it's there, now, and we'll use it, albeit at the risk of our respective necks. (There've been several wrecks on the new bridge, already.)

Credit for the day's brightest remark should go to Publisher Meyer. He was master of ceremonies at the luncheon. He introduced Governor Merriam with many appropriate gestures. The governor got out of making a long speech by pointing out that they were supposed to open the new bridge at 2 p. m. It was 2:15 when he was introduced. "I've been asked to make a 15-minute talk and end at 2 o'clock," he said, "and already it's 2:15."

Publisher Sam snapped right back at the state's head man. "Time," he chirped, "stands still when the governor's talking."

That's even stopped the astute Merriam!

It's not very often that I disagree with sportsman's organizations. Especially with the Isaac Walton league, which is one of the best, if not the best and hardest-working outfit in the country.

But right now I don't see eye-to-eye with 'em regarding a proposal they're bringing up at club meetings.

Regarding their proposal for bag limits on ocean fish. (Yeah, this's going to be a bit about fishing, and if you all don't like it, you can skip on down a paragraph or two.)

At one time I felt the same way the likes feel. But, after a lengthy conversation with the admiral who won't take me fishing in his boat if I put his name in the paper, I've changed my mind.

Here's the object: Conservationists claim that sportsmen remove so many fish from the ocean that their efforts must be checked somewhat. A fair bag limit, they contend, should be placed upon catches. This is to make commercial fishermen, who carry the largest burden of supporting research and enforcement of ocean fishing laws, feel better. As well, of course, as to protect the fish.

But my argument is this: Your average sportsman goes deep-sea once a week, on the average. From what I've seen, he'll make three or four trips in his boat, at several dollars a throw, before he gets any really good fishing. Say three times he goes out and brings home nothing but a bad temper. The fourth, he may hit upon a school of tuna or yellowtail or something. Remembering the three previous fruitless quests, he's going to catch fish just as hard and fast as he can, and I don't blame him one little bit.

How'd you like to be that angler who scoured the seas on three different trips and received nothing for his pains, and then hit a fishing paradise and had to stop fishing because he'd caught four of five or 15 of his finny friends? Not so hot, huh?

Instead, I think the conservationists should get the purse-seiners. One of those big boats can run close to shore along our coastline and remove a huge school of tuna in an hour. That school would make countless sportsmen happy for weeks on end.

And, if they'd really like to do something for the finny population of our coast, they might kick out those floating reduction plants that operate outside the three-mile limit, reducing to oil and fertilizer sardines which mainly, according to conservationists, are caught within the three-mile strip. Let the little's grow up and thrive, and more big's will gather 'round!

Maybe I'm wrong, but with the proposed bag limit legislation being backed by the San Diego chapter of the league, wouldn't that limit operate favorably for San Diegans? With a limit on fish caught in California waters, would it not be nice for the Southern sportsmen who visit San Diego take boats for Mexican waters, where they could catch all the fish they wanted. Or would it work that way?

I hope my many friends among the likes don't take this wrong. I'm just trying to puzzle the thing out. I may be all wet, and so, I'll undoubtedly hear from Johnny Gregory in Fullerton and Jim Rymer, national vice president, who lives in Anaheim.

Arguments on the situation will be welcomed!

SAFE DRIVING THEME OF NEWPORT VIADUCT DEDICATION

GOVERNOR IS SPEAKER AT CEREMONY

State And Local Leaders
Attend Luncheon And
Overpass Rite

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — Motorists driving over the new Newport-Coast highway overpass today were observing the behest of Gov. Frank F. Merriam expressed at the formal opening of the $185,000 grade separation Saturday afternoon. They were driving carefully.

"This is not a speedway," said the governor, as he clipped the wire securing a five-bar, 100-year-old gate from the Irvine ranch, stretched across the bridge, and allowed a bevy of bathing girls to pass through ahead of the parade of city and county state officials, in cars. "This is a safety way."

Greeley Speaks
J. P. Greeley, benignant booster of Newport harbor district since the turn of the century, also was a speaker at the ceremonies. Justus F. Craemer spoke for the highway commission.

On the reception committee were A. B. Boush, Lew Wallace, Dr. Howard Seager, R. L. Patterson, Paul Palmer, Capt. W. J. Brown, and Harry Welch, secretary of the Newport Harbor chamber of commerce.

Nearly 150 state and county officials, mayors and newspaper publishers attended the informal luncheon in the Newport Harbor Yacht club, honoring Governor Merriam and party at 12:30 p. m. Saturday.

Merriman Speaks
Speaking briefly on completion of the new highway separation unit, Governor Merriam lauded local workers on the project. He touched briefly on the traffic situation in California, pointing to the terrible toll of deaths from what he termed "fast, but not careful driving."

Drunk drivers are the cause of many deaths on the highways, but fast driving causes the most casualties on the highway today, he said.

Stanton Gives Toast
Governor Merriam was introduced by P. A. Stanton, Orange county member of the state highway commission. Stanton recalled experiences when he was a member of the state assembly in offering a toast to the governor.

Justus F. Craemer, Orange, assistant director of public works, introduced other members of the official state family, including W. T. Hart, highway commissioner from San Diego, and Mrs. Hart; J. L. Rousell, secretary of the highway commission, and Mrs. Rousell; M. R. Nickerson, staff photographer, and Judge Ralph C. Long Beach.

Officials Told

Moser, Earl S. Anderson, governor's aide; Leon Hesenam, yacht club secretary; Dr. Albert Soland and Mr. Miller, representing the Mundo Engineering company, which constructed the highway separation unit.

Newport Beach officials introduced included Paul Palmer, Lido Isle; Dr. H. W. Seager, Balboa Island; Lew Wallace, Balboa, and J. A. Beck, Balboa Island.

Maxwell, Fullerton; Mayor Harry Williamson, Newport-Balboa; Mayor Henry Pate, Santa Clemente; Mayor L. F. Malow, Laguna Beach; Mayor Wilms Warner, Huntington Beach; Mayor E. B. Criddle, Riverside, and J. W. B. Blackman, Long Beach city engineer.

Assemblyman Ted Craig introduced Harry Westover, senator-elect from Orange county; Tommy Kuchel, assemblyman-elect, 75th district, and Clyde Watson, assemblyman-elect, 74th district.

Supervisors Feted
County officials attending were Dan Mulholland, county WPA director; Supervisor N. E. West, Laguna; Supervisor W. C. Jerome, Santa Ana; Supervisor William Smith, Orange, and Nat H. Neff, county highway engineer.

Newspaper publishers introduced were E. B. Deu Pree, Seal Beach; Braden Finch, Santa Ana Journal; K. P. Frederick, Long Beach Press-Telegram; W. O. Hart, Orange News; Vernon King, Garden Grove News; Ted Kuchel, Anaheim Gazette; A. W. McBride, La Habra Star; S. A. SCOUTS HEARTY EATERS Gobble 180 Doz. Eggs at Meal

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — Sea Scouts, encamped here Friday, Saturday and Sunday, left for their homes last evening filled with seafaring experiences and ample food.

For instance, the usual light breakfast for the youngsters on Saturday included 70 dozen doughnuts, 140 gallons of milk—almost enough to float one of the training ships—12 gallons of apple sauce, 180 dozen eggs and other dainty tid-bits.

Vests were left unbuttoned in anticipation for a slightly heavier luncheon. Commissary Quartermaster Elwood C. Griest and his volunteer helpers in the huge kitchen at the campground wrestled with 80 pounds of ham, 50 pounds of cheese, 100 heads of lettuce, 500 rosy-cheeked apples, 100 loaves of bread—and well, it was a fairly satisfactory lunch.

Saturday night the Scouts really went to work on provisions furnished by the quartermaster. The meal centered around a small meat loaf which consisted of 100 pounds of hamburger, mated with 50 pounds of sausage, 12 gallons of tomatoes with puree, 21 gallons of peas, 10 pounds of onions and other necessary materials.

And, of course, they got an ample supply of beets and beans and other vegetables. And spinach!

SCOUTS PLAN RETURN TO NEWPORT

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — "Well mannered and manly, and welcome always" was the way Mayor Harry Williamson expressed the sentiments of Newport-Balboa today toward 561 Sea Scouts, officers and regional committeemen, who broke camp yesterday after their second annual three-day Rendezvous on the shores of Newport bay.

Ashore and afloat the visitors won praise. "Competent and considerate," Harbormaster T. E. Bouchey declared them to be. "They handled themselves and their boats like true sons of the sea."

Compliment Boys
"Sea Scouts? Never knew they were here," smiled Police Chief Hodgkinson. "That is not officially. Fine fellows, all of them. Hope to see more of them."

He will, according to C. J. Carlson, regional director. Addressing the ships' companies at the last general assembly as tents came down at the city camp grounds, he expressed the belief that next year's Rendezvous will have a registration of 1000 Sea Scouts. Santa Monica took away first honors at the encampment yesterday. Mariner, Ship No. 2, Crescent Bay council of Santa Monica, won the first pennant award with a total of 491 points.

Winners Told
Three other ships were close in line. Gavilan, ship from Monterey, was second with 485; Islander, ship from Crescent bay, third with 483 and Pinia, Beverly Hills, fourth with 476½ points.

Sea Hawk of Berkeley won the cutter race. Snowbird sailing victory was won by the Islander, with Almitos, and San Luis Obispo second and third, respectively. Long distance travel laurels went to Salt Lake City with two ships represented, Stansbury and Bonnyville.

Four trophies, ship's gear such as running lights, ship's bell, navy-type anchor, and 30-fathoms of line, were awarded.

SEEK AID FOR SCOUT WORK

LAGUNA BEACH. — An appeal was addressed today to young women of Laguna Beach and vicinity who are interested in the Girl Scouts and who desire to devote part of their time to this character-building activity.

The appeal was issued by the board of directors of the Girl Scout Council. It was urged that those interested contact Mrs. Joseph S. Thurston, 614 Park avenue, vice-commissioner of the local group.

It was pointed out that at the present time there are but two troop leaders active, and there are so many girls enrolled that four leaders are needed to carry on the activities in a satisfactory manner. Directors feel that the Girl Scout movement in Laguna Beach should take another step forward now by concentrating on providing girls with the proper kind of recreation, entertainment and guidance.

Officers of the local council include Mrs. Roy Ropp, commissioner; Mrs. Joseph H. Thurston, vice-commissioner; Leslie F. Kimnell, secretary, and C. Addison Van Loenen, treasurer. Other members of the board of directors are Thomas L. Cummings, Mrs. Harold M. Stover, Mrs. Harry Gordon Martin, Mrs. B. J. Van Doren and H. H. Henshaw.

BEACH CHURCH RITES HELD

LAGUNA BEACH. — Culminating the Loyalty-to-Church Month at the Laguna Beach Community church, services were conducted last night by the Rev. Raymond I. Braham, pastor of the church. The theme of the evening worship was meditation on the Ninety-first Psalm. The morning service was especially for young married couples of the congregation who form the Mariners' club, and the subject was "At Mid-Day."

A feature of the service yesterday was distribution of copies of William A. Griffith's noted painting, "From Desert to Sea," inspired by the Psalm which furnished the theme for the services.

Visits Parents

TUSTIN. — Bill Stearns, who is attending Pomona college, spent Thanksgiving at the home of his parents on Prospect avenue.

Ventura Scouts Like Climate at Newport Bay

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — The Ventura county Sea Scouts, after a dip yesterday said Newport-Balboa was much warmer than Point Barrow. And they should know.

Many of them have visited civilization's farthest north as members of the trading vessel, M. S. Patterson, under Capt. C. C. Pedersen. In fact, they have been almost to the North Pole, according to Elwood C. Greist, Ventura county Sea Scout executive.

How come is explained by the fact that Scout Executive Greist is the son of the noted medical man of Point Barrow, Dr. H. W. Greist, who in his 17 years in the Arctic has entertained most of the world's famed explorers, and was the only doctor within call at the time of the Rogers-Poll crash.

ORANGE LODGE TO ELECT

CROCKERY GIRL

By LEWIS ALLEN BROWNE

"I am 21. Whatever Great-uncle Cyrus left me won't be enough to stagger me. I think I am capable of handling it myself."

John Sitwick was scowling. He was also staring at the letter. Susan wondered if she really knew so much about this man.

"Nonsense!" he said. "You don't know what complications might arise. The sensible—the only thing—to do is for us to be married at once. Then we can go out together, and as your husband, I can take full charge of your inheritance."

Was John Sitwick, at heart, a cold and avaricious money-grabber? It seemed so to Susan.

"No, Mr. Sitwick," she said firmly. "I am going alone. I will get a girl today to substitute for me here. Then I will wire this lawyer that I am on my way."

Sitwick regarded her angrily. He took note of the firmness of her pretty chin, the stubborn line of her jaw.

"Very well," he said coldly, and turned to his desk.

Susan got a girl from an agency and showed her the routine work. Sitwick, meanwhile, had left the office. He was gone the rest of the day.

When Susan was ready to go home, she left him a note to the effect that the new girl seemed capable and that Susan was taking an early morning train. Then she wrote a note to Chet, sealed it and, on the envelope, wrote: "Mr. Sitwick—Please give this to Chester Hadley when he comes in."

The note was short: Dear Chet: Have gone to see about an inheritance. Let's hope it is a good one. If Mr. Sitwick tells you that he is going to marry me, don't let it worry you. I did have my mind made up to marry him, but that's off entirely. SUE.

CAESAR WILL BUILD HOME AT LAGUNA

LAGUNA BEACH. — Plans for the new $10,000 home to be erected by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Caesar will be ready for bids this week, it was announced today by Charles L. Hunter, well-known architect who designed the structure.

Caesar, nationally known author and scenario writer, has been living in Laguna Beach for the past six years. He does a great deal of his writing here over the week-ends.

The new Caesar home will be an eight-room structure of early California type, situated just off Blumont street in the Temple Hills district. The garage will be built below the house, and will accommodate three cars. A separate building will be constructed for Caesar's study.

80 ATTEND C. E. CHURCH RALLY

EL MODENA. — About 80 Christians Endeavor members of the Friends churches of the county held a rally in the basement of the Roosevelt school Friday evening, with young people of the El Modena church as hosts.

The group meets each quarter at one of the four Friends churches in the county, Yorba Linda, Almitos, Midway City and El Modena. A pot-luck dinner was served under direction of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Stearns, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Beymer, Fred Mahoney, Mrs. Mary Moody, Mrs. Florence Humphreys and Mrs. Doris Gray. Wayne Gray was toastmaster, with group singing led by Donald Kruger.

J. B. Wilbur, Orange Y. M. C. A. secretary, spoke on "Building a Life." The next rally will be held at Almitos.

CROCKERY GIRL

By LEWIS ALLEN BROWNE

Then he looked at the note to Chester. Why should Susan be writing to him? He intended to find out. He opened the envelope and read the note!

Chester Hadley never saw that note. Sitwick destroyed it at once. He was furious.

The excitement of traveling thrilled Susan. Spring had really arrived. Grass was green, tree buds were out. And ahead of her was the unknown little town of South Bendick, with some sort of legacy waiting for her!

What would it amount to? Would she be able to quit work—never go back to the drudgery in that dismal office? She shivered with excitement.

At last, after a change at a junction, she was drawing near to South Bendick. She studied the scenery. It was disappointing. In the distance, she caught glimpses of hills, but the nearby country was low and swampy.

When she left the train, she took an ancient taxi to South Bendick's only hotel, the Eagle Hotel.

Several men were loafing in the lobby when Susan went in. They eyed her with interest. Young and pretty girls traveling alone were seldom seen there.

A plump, smiling woman was behind the desk. She turned the old-fashioned register around for Susan to sign.

"Is it far to Lawyer Peaslee's office?" Susan asked.

The woman, Mrs. Ames, who owned the hotel, pointed to a small brick building across the street. Then she read Susan's name and her eyes widened.

"Was old Cyrus Morrison any relation of yours, Miss?"

"My great-uncle. I will leave my bag here. I'm going over to see Mr. Peaslee."

The lobby loungers watched her go out. They strolled over, and examined the register. One man banged his fist on the counter.

"The swamp hearse!"

"Yep," another man agreed. "She'll be the swamp hearse all right, an' I say it's a shame!"

YOUNG THUG'S STORY TOLD ON KVOE

18-Year-Old Gangster Is
Topic of 'Cars'
Broadcast

When an 18-year-old lad who has "graduated" from reform school boasts that he is out to make Dillinger and "Baby Face" Nelson "look like a pair of tramps," and substantially makes good the boast, he is apt to cause police authorities some difficulty. Bill Parker was the youth in question. Enlisting the allegiance of two other young fellows, he led the trio in a procession of robberies and kidnappings. Ultimately, however, the law caught up with them, again proving that even such surprisingly crafty young criminals as these cannot "get away with it."

Such is the true-story dramatization for tonight of the "Calling All Cars" broadcast to be made from KVOE today at 7:30.

KING MUSIC ON KVOE TONIGHT

The fascinating dance rhythm manufactured by Henry King and his orchestra will be presented by O. R. Haan, Chrysler and Plymouth distributor for Orange county at 505 South Main street, Santa Ana, tonight at 8 o'clock on KVOE, immediately following tonight's broadcast of "Calling All Cars."

Popular tunes of the day and some that are slated definitely to become "top tunes" include: "To You Sweetheart, Aloha," "Coney Island," "Night in Manhattan" and "You Turned the Tables on Me."

Carlin Swing Boys Make KVOE Debut

Like rhythm? Like "swing"? Like variety? Like the old songs? Then you'll like Bob Carlin and his Swing Boys, who present their initial program on KVOE this evening at 6:15.

Hailing from Long Beach, this group specializes in red hot entertainment, sublimed somewhat by a favorite old ballad or two. The personnel of the group includes Bob Carlin, who sings and plays the guitar; George Kelso, guitar, and Ralph Christian, violin.

This evening's program lists the following tunes: "Dinah," "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," "Black Eyed Susan Brown," "Darkness on the Delta" and the old Irish tune, "Shammas O'Brien."

Herbert Melody Is Rubinoff Highlight

Evelyn Case, beautiful and talented songstress currently appearing as guest soprano with Rubinoff on the "Musical Moments" program, will sing Victor Herbert's well known melody "When You're Away" on the "Musical Moments" show to be broadcast from KVOE tonight at 7 o'clock.

On the silken strings of his Stradivarius the maestro himself will play the new ballad, "Just a Word of Consolation," while the orchestra swings "The Skeleton in the Closet," from Bing Crosby's new picture, "Pennies from Heaven," and "Who Loves You."

Lip Reading Is Broadcast Topic

Miss Ruth Bartlett, instructor in lip reading in the adult education department, Santa Ana schools, and nationally known for her research and developments in the art of lip reading, will be heard during the adult education broadcast to be made from KVOE this evening at 5:30.

Miss Bartlett's main interest in life is to make others happy, especially those who are hard of hearing. Despite her own "handicap" of being unable to hear hardy a sound, she is so cheerful that those who are associated with her cannot help being pleasantly affected by her happy disposition. Through lip reading, she has practically overcome the handicap. Those who do not know her and speak with her are not aware that she cannot hear a word they are saying. Miss Bartlett is intensely interested in making the practical benefits of lip reading available to others who are hard of hearing and has helped thousands, without charge, through her adult education classes.

CONGRESS TO FACE HEAVY PROGRAM

Six Big Measures Due to Come Up When It Convenes

WASHINGTON. (AP)—With the opening of the 75th congress only six weeks away, a score of congressional leaders were hammering together today the framework of a heavy legislative program.

Although President Roosevelt has given little indication of the measures he will suggest, it appeared certain that congress would consider at least six major proposals.

Six Proposals

1. A farm tenancy bill, providing federal aid to convert tenants into owners. Such legislation has been urged by the President, and Chairman Jones (D., Tex.) of the house agriculture committee who said its passage was "assured."

2. Minor revisions of the tax on undistributed corporate earnings, promised by Chairman Harrison (D., Miss.) of the senate finance committee to relieve any "inequities" revealed by the first collections.

3. A crop insurance plan, incubating in the agriculture department and the agriculture committee of both houses.

Neutrality Act

4. A new neutrality act, to replace the present law expiring May 1. Chairman Pittman (D., Nev.) of the senate foreign relations committee has predicted few changes, although Senators Nye (R., N. D.) and Lewis (D., Ill.) have urged a far-reaching expansion of the nation's peace program.

5. A relief bill which probably will be offered by the President late in the session.

6. Modifications of the Tennessee Valley act, as suggested by Mr. Roosevelt, to put stronger emphasis on land use and conservation activities.

BACK TO PEN AT OWN REQUEST

LANSING, Kan. (AP)—Estil P. Butler, 60, at his own request for a "quiet place to die," was back in the Kansas penitentiary today.

An occupant of prisons for 24 years, Butler was paroled last April by Gov. Alf M. Landon from serving out a life term for possessing a quart of liquor—a severe penalty made mandatory under the Kansas habitual criminal act. Friends said he went "straight." But he became seriously ill. Without relatives, he made his strange request. Last night it was granted by Fred G. Palmer, the man to whom Butler was paroled. "I've spent so much of my life in prison that it will seem like home," Butler said.

Speedy Swimmer Leaves Tracks Behind in Race

They produce fast swimmers at San Diego. One of them swam right out of his trunks yesterday at Newport Beach. He was competing in the last event of a Sea Scout contest.

Shipmates ashore joyfully waited until his teeth began to chatter before they furnished the means for his modest exit from the water.

Sisters and mothers were no more sympathetic. They stayed right there until the finish of the race.

His Dimples Won Her!

"It was those dimples that won me," beamed Mary McCormick, the opera singer, when the cameraman caught up with her and her bridegroom, Homer V. Johannsen, Chicago attorney, on their wedding trip at Excelsior Springs, Mo. And here Johannsen shows the dimples as Mary talked by telephone to her new mother-in-law. (Associated Press Photo)

'Mike-Shy' Kreisler Brands Radio's Effect on Music

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Radio has had a disastrous effect on music, Fritz Kreisler, the violinist, said in an interview here.

Notably "mike-shy" himself, Kreisler declared that "broadcasting mars what the artist produces, and what the public gets is not the artist's conception, but the radio operator's conception."

While this is Kreisler's greatest objection, he claimed the music over the air had a "disastrous effect on music as a profession."

"It may not have affected the top flight of concert artists," he said, "but it has all but wiped out the rank and file."

The radio, moreover, makes music too easily obtainable, the artist contended.

"Those who pay for tickets to a concert and make an effort of attending a recital in a hall made some sort of sacrifice, however, small," he said. "Radio's constant inundation of music in the home tends to cheapen it."

"I bid three spades," is no proper accompaniment to a Toscanini broadcast," Kreisler admitted radio has done

"many beneficial, worthwhile things in disseminating music," but said he declined to put himself at the mercy of an operator at the "mixing panel."

The vital statistics showed a record low death rate, 16.78 per thousand.

ROSA PONSELLE IS ENGAGED

BALTIMORE. (AP)—Romance like a page from a story book has come to lead beautiful Rosa Ponselle to the altar but not away from grand opera.

Soon—just how soon she cannot say yet—she will wed tall and handsome Carle A. Jackson, the beautiful singer found in quiet and cultured Baltimore. But her singing will go on.

That much they made clear as Miss Ponselle entertained her husband-to-be yesterday at the Green Spring Valley mansion where she is staying. Said the star of the Metropolitan Opera Company:

"As long as my voice responds as it does and I hope that will be for many years—Carle intends to let me go on singing."

"Aye, captain," said Jackson, young polo-playing business man. Jackson is the eldest son of Mayor Howard W. Jackson. He is assistant to his father in the insurance business.

Swanger passed the state examination to practice as a certified public accountant in 1932. He is a member of the California State Society of Certified Public Accountants, and has been admitted to practice before the treasury department.

After attending Santa Ana High school, Swanger went to Southern Western University and to the Metropolitan college of the University of Southern California. For one year Swanger was connected with the auditing department of the Los Angeles Times. Following this, he spent two years in the same department of the Los Angeles Examiner. In 1927, he became affiliated with Great Western Cordage, Inc. and has been secretary-treasurer of that corporation since its incorporation. He is also a member of its board of directors.

"He gets his degree, and goes out of the university with a degree and nothing else," he said. "He is illiterate, having no acquaintance with letters, but illiterate with a degree. And our university has given him its certificate of education, which certificate we librarians know to be a lie."

There was no violence. As fast as police hauled one picketer off his cold resting place on newspapers or cardboard, another took his place.

The 56 were sentenced under a local ordinance which prohibits blocking of sidewalks by loiterers.

BOBBING TAILS OF FIVE NEGROES

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Detective Sergeant Johnson and his men today bobbed tails for mules. They arrested five negroes on charges of clipping the hair from the tails of a shipment of mules to sell it to clothing manufacturers for use in coat lapels.

"It takes about two years for the tail to grow back," Johnson said, "and the mules need their tails for chasing flies."

The interview will reveal what makes the forum go, who pays for it, and how it is conducted. Many questions which the public probably has wished answered will be discussed in the interview.

W. W. Wiman, principal of the Lathrop evening high school, will introduce Chaney and Bradshaw. The broadcast will be made from The Journal's studio in its editorial rooms, over direct wire to KVOE.

Calls College Grads Illiterate

NEW YORK. (AP)—The average college graduate is illiterate, E. C. Kyte, librarian of Queen's college, Kingston, Ontario, told the 24th annual conference of eastern college librarians at Columbia university.

"He gets his degree, and goes out of the university with a degree and nothing else," he said. "He is illiterate, having no acquaintance with letters, but illiterate with a degree. And our university has given him its certificate of education, which certificate we librarians know to be a lie."

Fine or Jail 56 Lie-Down Pickets

READING, Pa. (AP)—Twelve women and 44 men who stretched flat across the icy pavement in front of the Berkshire knitting mills main entrance to prevent workers from entering the strike-affected plant were arrested and fined or sent to jail today.

There was no violence. As fast as police hauled one picketer off his cold resting place on newspapers or cardboard, another took his place.

The 56 were sentenced under a local ordinance which prohibits blocking of sidewalks by loiterers.

RILEY SEEKS MORE DATA ON NEW UNEMPLOYMENT TAX

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—State Controller Riley announced he will not consent to an appeal in his name from the decision of the state supreme court upholding the California unemployment insurance law. He will, however, he said, seek from Chief Justice Waste instructions on how and to whom he should turn over the $3,000,000 which has been collected. An additional $12,000,000 will be due this year.

Riley maintains the court was silent on this point which, although somewhat technical, is important because of the possibility that unless it is done satisfactorily to the federal government, Washington might not approve the state's act but proceed to collect the $3,000,000 from those who have already paid it.

In other words, he said, he wants a court instruction telling him what name to write on the check. His own conclusions are it should be drawn to "unemployment trust fund of the United States as trustee for the unemployment funds of the state of California."

Chile Recognizes Italy's Conquest

ROME. (AP)—Chilean recognition of the Italo-Ethiopian empire was announced formally today, after Ambassador Alberto Carli had presented a copy of his credentials to Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano.

BEST RESULTS IN HISTORY OBTAINED

Spend $1,478,084 During Year in Promotion of Local Products

(Editor's Note: Orange county's prosperity is founded upon its farming, particularly its citrus industry. The Valencia orange harvest has just closed, and for this reason The Journal is publishing a series of articles based on the report of the California Fruit Growers exchange. The third article follows.)

Spending nearly one and one-half million dollars on advertising, the California Fruit Growers exchange this year found the greatest consumer response per dollar invested of any year in its history, according to the annual report of Paul S. Armstrong, general manager.

The exchange spent $1,478,084.94 on advertising and other sales help, of which $866,582.32 was for oranges, $577,513.65 was for lemons, and $3,988.97 was for grapefruit. This brought the entire exchange advertising for 29 years to $23,135,912.23, or 1.6 per cent of the f. o. b. value of the fruit.

Juice Promotion "Two glasses of fresh orange juice daily" was the keynote of the consumer advertising during navel and Valencia seasons, with "At Breakfast—Again at 4" the copy line to emphasize the recommendation.

This was chosen, Armstrong said, after research showed that more persons drop into soda fountains for rest and refreshment about 4 p. m. than at any other time. The idea of orange juice for breakfast is well established.

Research Work Three fundamental forms of research are carried on—market research, involving changing conditions and sales helps; consumer research, determining how and why buyers use citrus fruit; and scientific nutritional and product research, finding new uses and proof of advantages over competing products.

The new Sunbelt building in Los Angeles, occupied last January, afforded two additional facilities in the advertising research department. A completely equipped experimental kitchen and a carefully planned chemical laboratory permit recipe development and testing as well as product research and analysis.

BELL FEELS QUAKE LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Bell, a southeast Los Angeles suburb, was jarred by a slight earthquake last night. No damage was reported.

Sparkling Gaiety Prevails at Junior Ebell's Autumn Formal Saturday Night

Many Parties Inspired By Dance

Brilliant Decorations And Lovely Gowns In Gay Harmony

A cold, clear, moonlight night, and a tang of autumn in the air without—and inside an atmosphere of warmth, color and sparkling gaiety—such were the elements that combined to make Junior Ebell's annual fall formal dance, held Saturday evening at the clubhouse, a particularly brilliant event.

Whether it was pleasure in the sparkling decorations, a keen appreciation of the band's rhythm and melody, a delight in beautiful gowns, or just the comfort and well-being of participating in a long-established and anticipated gathering of friends that motivated the gay groups of Junior Ebell, their husbands and guests, was hard to determine. Suffice to say it was a truly delightful and successful affair.

Several enterprising young matrons and misses had planned little dinner parties before the dance, and others waited until they reached the clubhouse to gather with their escorts.

Miss Elizabeth Smith entertained at a particularly charming dinner party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Smith, 120 South Broadway. Miss Smith, who is second vice president of Junior Ebell, had arranged chrysanthemums in autumn colors throughout the home, and chose just the soft yellow ones, emphasized by yellow tapers, to decorate the long table at which she seated her guests.

Her father and mother assisted in entertaining the group, which was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Sackman, Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith, Miss JoAnne Baker, Miss Ernestine Irwin, Miss Peg Stump, Leslie McDonald, Jimmie Decker, Bill Kistinger and Joe McKee.

Dinner Party
The Crawford Nalles had as dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Atherton (Katherine Barr) of Los Angeles. Mrs. Nalle, the petite president of the Juniors, was especially attractive in a gown of black lace and net, with tiny pink rosebuds outlining the décolleté neckline.

Another formal dinner party was that given by Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Finley, who had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Matzen and Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Wade.

After the hundred or so couples had been greeted at the door of the clubhouse by that ever-gregarious group who have assisted in the receiving line on so many occasions, Mrs. Emrys D. White, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Davis, and Col. and Mrs. M. B. Wellington, they gathered in informal groups, filling out the attractive little programs that were presented to them by Mrs. Oliver Lindemeyer, in charge of tickets.

Gather in Groups
Seen standing beneath a cluster of vivid-hued balloons and the striking gilt-dipped leaves that had been arranged by Mrs. Raymond Terry, vivacious chairman of decorations, were the Clarence Fannyes, the Stanley Nortons, the Ralph Cummings and the John Newmans, while glimpsed at intervals around the refreshing punchbowl were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Elstrom, Mr. and Mrs. John Scripps, and Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Rhone.

Exchanging dances after dining in a group at Daniger's were the efficient and highly-praised chairman of the dance, Hazel (Mrs. Herbert) Stroschein, Dr. Stroschein, the Raymond Terrys, the Ferris Scotts, the Floyd Croddys, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sullivan, the latter with two gorgeous orchids on her shoulder.

Seen at intervals between dances were the Toby Whites, and those attractive misses, Marjorie

VELVET BLOUSES FOR AFTERNOON

Here is one of the new blouses, which play such a prominent role in winter fashions, designed of deep green rayon velvet, woven to resist crumpling either from wear or from packing. Rhinestone buttons running down the front give it a festive air. It is worn with a dark gray wool suit and a felt hat of the same shade accented with a felt choux.

HOUSEWARMING IN NEW HOME AT THE BEACH

As official housewarming for their new home at Cheney's Point, Laguna Beach, Miss Florence Yoch and Miss Lucille Council invited a small coterie of friends down recently for a charmingly arranged dinner.

First visitors in the new home were Miss Elsa Rust and Mrs. A. Spurgin of South Pasadena, who were their houseguests over a few days, and others invited for the dinner were Miss Yoch's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. West, and the former's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Isch, all of Laguna Beach.

Later in the week, Miss Council entertained her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Council.

Miss Yoch, a former resident of the county, is returning from Pasadena, where she and Miss Council have been living recently.

Anne Mathes, Margaret Lyman, and Mary Nalle.

Younger Group
A charming group of younger people included Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hales (Barbara Dunton), Mr. and Mrs. Joe Knox, Miss Yvette Blank (home for the week end from U. C. L. A.), Miss Marian Brownridge (who abandoned Scripps college for the dance), and Miss Margaret Sawyer, all with attentive escorts.

Dr. and Mrs. Chad Harwood, Mr. and Mrs. Don Harwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith were seen exchanging dances, as were those attractive couples, the George Bradleys, the Ernest Stumps, the Paul Dales and the Hubert Gohres. Others glimpsed enjoying the music were Mr. and Mrs. Leland Finley, Miss Anne Tarver, Tevis Westgate, and Sara and Herbert Hill.

Two good-sized groups prolonged the happy evening with mutually-provided breakfast parties. Gathering at the Lee Smiths were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDaniel, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dickson, Miss Sada Mae McAuley, Miss Vera Merrill, Dr. Michael Hogan and Ward Munten.

Partaking of bacon and eggs with the George Walkers were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brakebill, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Tarr, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guild, C. Harold Dale, Mr. and Mrs. George Spielman, and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Cook of Long Beach.

This will be Junior Ebell's last formal dance of the year until the annual spring ball held next May.

LEGION MOTHERS TO HAVE PARTY
Mothers' club of the American Legion is looking forward to a Christmas party and turkey dinner Dec. 21 in the Veterans' hall. Mrs. Margaret Hill is to be in charge of the kitchen and Mrs. Mabel Leach the dining room, and members will pay 25 cents for the dinner instead of making it pot-luck this time. Gifts not exceeding ten cents will be exchanged at the party.

Plans were discussed at the last meeting of the group, presided over by Mrs. Amy Stewart, vice-president, when the quilters finished the quilt to be given away and others cut carpet rags and tied a comforter for the treasure chest.

DE MOLAY MOTHERS
De Molay Mothers are all requested to be present tomorrow night at the meeting to be called at 7:30 in the Masonic temple, as important business is to come up for immediate attention, it is stated.

Girls Invite Partners To Dance

Leap year, Thanksgiving, and football formed a triple inspiration for Associated Women Students of Santa Ana Junior college last week when they turned the tables and did the inviting for the gay holiday dance held at Huntington Beach Memorial hall.

The girls invited their escorts, paid the bills, furnished the transportation and paid all the courtesies of the evening, in true leap year style.

Theme of the dance being "football," college pennants were strung around the room in gala array, and the festive atmosphere was enhanced by baskets and wreaths of holly. Holding interest in the center of the stage was a football with a crown engraved with the letters, "S. A. J. C.," symbolic of this year's championship.

Glen Gilmer's orchestra supplied the tunes for the hours of dancing, and little gold programs with red and black football players on the front cover added to the interest of the evening.

Miss Frances Was, A. W. S. president, received the guests, wearing a blue flowered shirt-maker formal. Assisting as patrons and patronesses were Mrs. Eleanor Northcross, dean of women; Calvin Flint, dean of men, and Mrs. Flint; D. K. Hammond, director; and Mrs. Hammond; Frank A. Henderson, schools superintendent; and Mrs. Henderson; and Miss Genevieve Humiston, faculty member.

Mrs. Northcross wore a lovely black velvet with lace collar and sleeves. Mrs. Flint was in white crepe with red flowers. Miss Humiston in red crepe with a jacket. Mrs. Hammond also in red crepe, and Mrs. Henderson in red velvet. All of the girls wore stunning formal gowns to the dance, which was one of the most delightful of the year.

PRETTY SHOWER FOR FORMER SANTA ANAN

Mrs. Robert U. Smith of 1001 North Olive street, assisted by her mother, Mrs. W. J. Morris, entertained Friday night at a prettily arranged layette shower in honor of Mrs. Kermit Maynard of San Diego, the former Kay Bement of this city.

Because the visitors had to leave Thursday morning for home, Mrs. Morris planned the holiday dinner for Wednesday, and others joining them at the festive board were her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Rowell and Mrs. W. W. Anderson of Santa Ana.

Musical Notes club made up of piano pupils of Miss Taressa Koonce, honored one of its members, Peggy Louise Parkinson, at its regular meeting Friday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Jacobs, 1472 Maple street.

PHI OMEGAS PLAN YULE PARTY

Phi Omegas will give themselves their annual Christmas party next Friday night when they go to Los Angeles for dinner and the theater.

Present were the Misses Jean Upshall, Gertrude Vaughan, Alice Nelson, Jane and Ruth McBurney, Helen Fine, and Annie Tucker, Mrs. Ronald Vincent and Mrs. Lester Boyle, members, and Miss Ruth Wasson and Miss Phyllis Hefke, the two pledges.

VISITORS LEAVE FOR HOME

The departure Saturday of Mrs. W. H. Dodds and Mrs. Andrew Smith for their homes in Decatur, Ill., ended a series of charming social courtesies that has been going on in Santa Ana for the five weeks of their visit here.

As guests of their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Braden, of 108 Buffalo street, Mrs. Dodds and Mrs. Smith were widely feted. Among the several affairs were luncheons given by Mrs. George Gould and Mrs. Howard Taylor, and pleasant evenings spent with Mr. and Mrs. Al Raymond of Anaheim and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gerrard. They were also guests at the regular sessions of the Las Felicitas club, of which Mrs. Braden is a member.

House Party For School Friends

Mrs. Elmer Bowers of 1401 North Main street entertained a group of friends recently at house party to honor her son, Addison, home from the University of California for the holidays.

Other guests invited to the house party were Tex Harris, U. C. L. A. football star, and Miss Jane Hooker of Beverly Hills, who attends U. S. C.

The young people came out Thursday, following the game at the Coliseum, arriving in time for a Thanksgiving dinner arranged by Mrs. Bowers. The home group were also at the pretty table, including Mrs. Bowers' daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Norton and child; and the hostess' sister, Miss Corine Clements, who assisted in decorating the table with a lovely arrangement of autumn leaves and fruit on an antique plate and yellow candles in crystal holders.

The guests remained until Sunday morning, spending one evening at the Cocoon Grove in Los Angeles and also making a trip to the beach.

MORRISONS HAVE GUESTS FROM NEW MEXICO

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Morrison of 116 South Birch street have had the pleasure of a visit of several days from Mr. Morrison's nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Plantaux and daughter, Florence, and son, Frank, from Albuquerque, N. M.

Before reaching Santa Ana on Sunday, the travelers visited San Francisco, Yosemite, Sequoia and Boulder Dam.

Because the visitors had to leave Thursday morning for home, Mrs. Morrison planned the holiday dinner for Wednesday, and others joining them at the festive board were her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Rowell and Mrs. W. W. Anderson of Santa Ana.

Mary Stoddard Understanding And Forgiveness Will Conquer Weak Points of Husband

By MARY STODDARD
The problem of the wife who has left her beloved husband because he is irresponsible about money, has found a speedy reply. Here are words of sage advice and comfort that I hope "Just Lost" will profit by: Dear "Just Lost"—You describe my early married life, only I married the only son of wealthy parents, which made his credit good any place in town. I, too, had to put up with his learning how to work, as he never had but one job in his life before we were married. His father turned him out on his own when he was married, and since he only knew how to spend money, I had a job.

THE ROOFTREE

Once upon a time a strong man heaved
A rooftop for his little brood;
His sinewy hands its rafters reared,
His swinging ax the forest cleared,
Till orchard-bloom and fields of loam
Smiled round it, and he called it Home.

And there, for many a happy day,
He heard his children shout at play,
Or watched them, barefoot, wander through
The clovered meadows steeped in dew;
And, one by one, he saw them fare
Forth from the fold, the world to dare.

Then came a time when 'neath the shade
Of arbors that his hands had made,
They laid him in the soft, cool mold,
His labors done, his story told.
And silence breathed its hush and spell
On that dear place once loved so well.

The rooftop crumbled, spiders wove
Their fairy webs its caves above;
But yonder, in the world's wild way,
Those who had loved it in their play,
Stopped oft, through days that care beset,
To name it with their heart's regret.

A rich man in his halls of pride,
Through many an hour of longing sighed
For its bright, flowery paths again;
And one who lay in fevered pain
On glory's field, near death's dim brink,
Cried for its sweet, cool springs to drink.

And there was one poor Ishmael,
Who, when his ill-starred fortunes fell,
Turned like a hunted dog at bay,
Backward, o'er many a devious way,
To lay him down with death, care-free,
Once more within the old rooftop.

Russia Forms Program of Section

Wearing costumes of the country they were interpreting for their audience, a group of talented artists and speakers made up the program Friday for members and guests of Ebell club's third travel section at its meeting in the clubhouse lounge.

Miss Preble Drake, program chairman for the year, had arranged the afternoon entertainment, which opened with Russian songs by Mary Batten Steffensen, accompanied by Miss Audrey Pinner at the piano and Rose Marie Flint, violinist.

Speakers of the afternoon, both natives of Russia, were Mrs. Ethel Gantman, who spent her early life in that country, and Mrs. Lillie Maroa, who recently returned from a visit to her native land.

The former spoke of "Social and Political Life of the Nineteenth Century," and Mrs. Maroa on "Products and Industrial Development." Both speakers added to the interest of their talks by accounts of personal experiences.

During the business meeting, over which Mrs. F. P. Nickey, junior past leader, presided in the absence of the leader, Mrs. S. A. Moore, tribute was paid to the memory of Mrs. Hutchins, a member who had passed away since the last meeting; and plans were made for a Christmas party to be held Dec. 18 at the home of Miss Drake, with Mrs. T. R. Trawick, Miss Blanche Collings, and Miss Ida Nay as the committee.

DANCERS ON LODGE PROGRAM

Young dancers from the Vera Getty studio entertained the Royal Neighbors of America of Magnolia chapter at their recent meeting, receiving enthusiastic applause for their talented performance.

Participating in the program, for which Miss Getty presided as mistress of ceremonies and Mrs. Janet Martin acted as accompanist, were Virginia Reed, Shirley Hilliard, Ginger German, Eleanor Easler, Patty White, Jimmy Dickson, Dorothy McCoy, Donna Griggs, and Beverly Dawson, and the members of the "Military Five," Bobs Markwood, Jo Stanley, Helen Rupert, Jane McKee, and Polly Struck, who concluded the program.

COUNTY NEAR TOP IN ITS INCOME

Government Receipts Of $72.75 Per Capita Are Reported

Only three county governments in California receive higher per capita incomes than Orange county.

The county's income for every person is $72.75. The average for the state as a whole is $57.47.

Orange county's complete income from local taxes and apportionments from the state during the 1934-1935 fiscal year was $8,992,417, figures released today by the California Taxpayers' association show.

Local Taxes
Every person within the county, on a per capita basis, would have donated $52.96 for the upkeep of county government. Apportionments from the state added $19.79 to the per capita total.

Income in the county from local taxes levied by the county, cities, and schools was $4,504,840, or $56.44 per capita; other districts collected $1,242,140, or $10.05 per capita; apportionments from the state amounted to $2,446,025, or $19.79 per capita, while miscellaneous local income amounted to $799,412, or $6.47 per capita.

Among the larger counties, the local government in San Bernardino county has the least money to spend, only $42.21, while Orange has the most in this group.

Reasons For Variation
Some of the reasons for the wide variation between counties lying side by side is accounted for by the unusually large collection for special districts in this county.

Even so, perusal of the figures shows $36.44 collected in this county for school and general purposes, as compared to the per capita collection of $20.93 in San Bernardino county.

The three counties outranking Orange in per capita collections are Colusa, Sutter and Alpine, among the smallest in the state.

Science Sermon Raps Mesmerism

The Christian Science Lesson-Sermon on Sunday denounced ancient and modern mesmerism, alchemy and hypnotism. The same Lesson-Sermon was presented in all branches of the Methodist Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The Lesson-Sermon included Paul's words to the Ephesians: "I really, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. . . . Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness. . . . Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked."

Among the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy were: "At all times and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good. Know thyself, and God will supply the wisdom and the occasion for a victory over evil. Clad in the panoply of Love, human hatred cannot reach you."

LESS VITAMINS
Squeezed orange juice loses 10 per cent or more of its vitamin C value if it stands in the refrigerator overnight.

FROCK SERVES FOR DRESS-UP OR EVERYDAY, SAYS MARIAN MARTIN

THURSDAY BRIDE IS HONOREE AT PARTY

A charming pre-nuptial courtesy for Miss Lucille Crawford, who became the bride of William Rasmussen of Santa Ana on Thanksgiving Day, was the dessert card party given Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. J. E. Prentice, 1660 East First street.

One large table surrounded by several small ones formed the unit at which a dainty desert course was served. Table decorations were rustic and yellow button chrysanthemums arranged in white pottery bowls, and tall yellow tapers in white candlesticks, with autumn leaves scattered at intervals over the lace cloth of the center table.

An array of tissue-wrapped gifts of a miscellaneous nature was brought in by the hostess, and placed before Miss Crawford, who unwrapped them so all could enjoy the pretty things.

At the afternoon's cards, Mrs. George Richardson won first prize, Mrs. Harry Traveler, second, and Mrs. Charles Smiley, a lucky prize. The Communists say. Give us the children for eight years and they'll be Communists forever.

Now, I don't know much about Calumet Auxiliary of the Spanish War Veterans, and I don't know any of 'em personally, but I want to take my hat off to them anyway. In accordance with one of the purposes of their organization to keep the flag in schools and all gathering places of children, they recently presented a silk American flag to Tustin Grammar school.

One of the aims of our educational system is to develop the best in our children. Good citizenship is an objective, and the American flag must have a large part in such a program. If children are to become the citizens we would have them, they should be taught reverence for our America, with its traditions, and all it stands for. Our flag should be in every school room and public place, and every child should be taught devotion and appreciation to it, and what it stands for.

There's been too much tearing down of our flag. Hats off to the Calumet Auxiliary for their efforts to implant and establish the spark of patriotism in the hearts of our children.

JUNIOR EBELL YULE BRIDGE TOMORROW

Junior Ebelle club's annual Christmas bridge party, scheduled for tomorrow evening in the Peacock room of the clubhouse, is an anticipated event of the week, with elaborate preparations almost completed by Mrs. George Bradley and her sub-committee chairman.

Auction and contract bridge are to be played, and as table prizes are to be awarded members will be allowed to pivot any way they please.

Mrs. William Overshiner has been in charge of refreshments, Miss Helen Glancy tallies, Miss Ruth Baker, tables, and Miss Mary Tuthill, prizes.

CHILDREN HAVE HAPPY PARTY

The fourth birthday anniversary of little Patsy Ann Mathews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mathews of 507 Linwood avenue, was an especially happy occasion because her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Green of Kokomo, Ind., were here to share in the celebration.

Several children gathered at her home on Wednesday afternoon to play games, see Mickey Mouse movies and partake of ice cream and cake. Bobbie and Beverly Cole won prizes at the various contests, and others present were Virginia May and Margaret Jean Visse, Dorothy Daley, Georgia Lou Chapman, Dona Dale Campbell, Sue Hawks and Vera Jean Neilson.

Mrs. R. A. Hawks assisted Mrs. Mathews with the children.

SHOWER HONORS RECENT BRIDE

To honor Mrs. Holland Whittington, a bride of last month, Mrs. Russell Macy, her sister-in-law, entertained Sunday afternoon at a shower at her home at Fairhaven and Esplanade streets, assisted by Mrs. Ray Gardell of Santa Ana and Mrs. Ed Lambert of Bakersfield.

The honored guest, in addition to receiving many lovely shower gifts, was also awarded the prizes in the games; and dainty refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon to the following:

Navy Beans And Spinach For Economy

By C. N. CHRISMAN, M. D.

Here is the latest item of special interest to emanate from my own state educational center: What food returns the most nutritional value for a cent?

Well, it's a fifty-fifty combination of navy beans and spinach. Says the official pronouncement: "A cent's worth of beans does not have all the essential vitamins, but it does supply more calories, protein, calcium, phosphorus, iron and vitamin B than a cent's worth of any other 30 common foods. And (listen!) a cent spent for spinach procures sufficient vitamins A, C and G, to keep the consumer in a mood to buy more beans."

A penny's worth of rolled oats does more to keep you going than a penny's worth of bread. If you must have bread, you can go farther and work longer on the whole wheat variety than on that made from the white or milled flour.

Most of you know, from being told so many times, that your best source of calcium for your teeth and bones is found in milk. You will be glad to know that this is also the cheapest way to get it. And while milk is providing calcium, it gives you also plentiful proteins, three minerals, four vitamins and a generous quota of calories.

Penny for penny, cabbage gives you more vitamin C than does the orange, says our state laboratory. "Cut out potatoes," says the dietitian in an offhand way. But wait, some of us would rather do without something else. Potatoes have four vitamins—C and G especially—besides three minerals and abundant calories.

Shall we use lard and molasses or butter and sugar? I contend that a cow's butter, if clean and properly made, is one of our finest foods, affording plenty of calories and vitamin A. I am willing to wager that a child who gets plenty of butter and cream will be little likely to need castor oil or any other laxative.

Molasses has a commendable content of calcium and iron. Sugar and lard afford calories only—just sweet and fat—but are essential for heat and energy.

JOY MCPHEE IS WHITTIER BRIDE

Of interest to Santa Anans was the marriage Saturday afternoon of Miss Joy McPhee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barry McPhee, and Russell G. Porter of Whittier. The McPhees were former residents here, where Mr. McPhee was connected with the Edison company, and where Miss Joy was graduated from both high school and Santa Ana.

The wedding occurred in San Diego, with only members of the immediate families in attendance. The bride, a vivid blonde, was dressed in an attractive black velvet ensemble, with a corsage of white gardenias. When in junior college here she was affiliated with Las Meninas.

Mr. Porter, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erskine G. Porter of Whittier, was a student at the University of California at Berkeley. They will live in Whittier, after a honeymoon spent in the Arrowhead cabin of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dennis of Orange.

A family thanksgiving party at the cabin preceded the marriage, with the following in attendance: Mr. and Mrs. Barry McPhee and their children, Shirley and Barry, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Duff Dean and son, Wallace; Mrs. George McPhee, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dennis, and the bride and groom.

Townsend News, Views

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This is a non-political, non-partisan column, dealing in Townsend news and views, and written by a prominent Townsend leader. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

A number of the Townsend folk have asked me to state in my column the fact of Dr. Townsend speaking each Friday night at 8:45 o'clock over radio station KNX by transcription.

WALTER R. ROBB, hearing his last call as secretary of the Townsend Club officers association of Orange county for a monthly meeting.

The meeting will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 in Santa Ana Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street. All club officers and speakers and past presidents are invited to be present. Election of officers for the next six months beginning Jan. 1, 1937, will be held. The writer has been secretary for a year, having filled the office for two consecutive terms and does not desire to be re-elected, as he believes he has served long enough. Looking back to the January, 1936, meeting of the association, the writer remembers that the late A. G. Diehl cast the ballot which unanimously elected the present secretary to office the first time. In the February minutes it became necessary for the writer to record the passing of A. G. Diehl in January. He was the organizer of Santa Ana club No. 1 and one of the most tireless workers for the Townsend cause that this city has ever had. He was also vice president of the association at the time of his passing, and was succeeded in office by Harry D. Riley, who still serves the organization in that capacity.

Judge L. F. Coburn of Orange will address Santa Ana club No. 2, which meets in the Santa Ana Townsend hall at 7:30 tonight. E. F. Millard, president, will preside. Further plans in connection with the new membership drive will be discussed and other business transacted. The public will be welcome to attend this meeting and hear Judge Coburn.

J. A. Green, president of Orange club No. 1, has issued a call for the regular weekly meeting to be held at 7:30 tonight in Orange Townsend hall at 149 South Glass street. All Townsendites and the public in general are always welcome to attend this club's meetings.

E. E. Proud and Mrs. Proud of La Habra were among the out-of-town Townsendites who attended the big Townsend mass meeting in Santa Ana Townsend hall Saturday night. Proud is chairman of the advisory board of the La Habra club, and reported that tonight at 7:30 its regular weekly meeting will be held in the Masonic hall. The writer helped organize this club and knows many of its members.

Costa Mesa club No. 3, of which Mrs. K. C. Burdick is the president, has made arrangements for a big meeting at the Costa Mesa Woman's clubhouse tomorrow evening. At 6:30 p. m. there will be a pot-luck dinner. Each of the Townsendites is to bring a table service, sandwiches and a covered dish. Coffee will be furnished by the club. A cordial invitation is extended to members of the other two Costa Mesa clubs and others elsewhere to join in the good time expected. The Rev. Rex Barr of Long Beach is scheduled to be present and address the gathering.

Good With a Cup of Tea

By JUDITH WILSON

Since you will be serving tea frequently from now on—bridge tea for a group or just a friendly cup with a neighbor, here are some ideas for some dainty snacks.

Tea Crisps
Cook together 1 cup sweetened condensed milk, and 2 tablespoons brown sugar until very thick over boiling water. Remove from the fire and add 3 cups cornflakes and 1/2 cup broken nut meats. Drop by teaspoons on a well greased pan about 1 inch apart. Bake for 10 or 12 minutes, or until brown in a moderate oven.

Honey-Nut Sandwiches
Mash 2 cakes cream cheese and mix with 1/2 cup peanut butter, 1/4 cup honey and a few grains salt. Slice steamed brown bread very thin and spread with the mixture. Put 2 slices together and cut the circles into dainty wedges.

Roos Bros. Vote Extra Dividend

SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—Roos Bros., Inc., will pay an extra dividend of $1.25 a share on common stock, along with the regular quarterly dividend of 37 1/2 cents a share. Dec. 21, to owners of record Dec. 5. The payment goes to around 600 shareholders. It amounts to $92,330 on the 73,704 shares.

Gypsies Ordered To Leave County

MODESTO. (P)—All gypsies have been ordered to leave Stanislaus county or be arrested on vagrancy charges. Deputy sheriffs circulated the order after the district attorney's office advised gypsies could be arrested as vagrants. The order was issued after several persons said they had been victimized by them.

TO SERVE DINNER
The women of the Richland avenue Methodist church will serve a chicken supper Thursday from 5 to 7 o'clock as a feature of their bazaar on that day.

Ana Townsend hall last week. The first was held at noon on Thanksgiving day when 270 people were served a bountiful turkey dinner. The writer wasn't present, being engaged in a Thanksgiving affair in Laguna Beach, but Mrs. W. J. Pickering described the gathering to him in these words: "A great gathering of kindly, loving Americans united in a common cause." Those words just stuck in the mind of the writer as being wonderfully descriptive in general of the Townsend folk.

The second dinner in which turkey was the featured food was held Saturday evening in the same hall. Some 85 folks were present. Mrs. Pickering, secretary of Santa Ana club No. 8, wrote a description of the tables and food, at the Thanksgiving affair. She said, "Long tables were set with white coverings topped with china and gleaming silver. Decorations were green branches laden with red berries. Before each of the diners were placed plates piled high with turkey meat both dark and white, surrounded by all the trimmings, all of which took you back in memory to home and mother."

And here is what she caught of the Thanksgiving spirit: "Around the tables were the thankful throng who united in singing praises to God and in prayers of thankfulness." There is something between the lines that seems to truly picture the kind of folks the Townsendites are. Great big souled people fighting for the welfare of the nation.

After the Thanksgiving dinner a guest speaker was Miss Frances Hansen of Alhambra, who addressed the audience from the subject, "America's Door of Opportunity." Miss Hansen is only 16 years old. Herbert F. Kenny gave an encouraging report to the gathering, who united in singing praises to God and in prayers of thankfulness. There is something between the lines that seems to truly picture the kind of folks the Townsendites are. Great big souled people fighting for the welfare of the nation.

Bride Found Slain

Investigators were puzzled by the first violent death in Matanuska farm colony in Alaska, that of Mrs. Zelda King Picketon (above), bride of six months. Her husband found her body, shot through the chest, on the floor of their home. A rifle was on a nearby table. (Associated Press photo.)

AUTO DEATHS IN NATION DROP

Use Proper Makeup When Photographed

By JACQUELINE HUNT

It may seem early to mention Christmas shopping, but it is not at all too early if you plan to give pictures of yourself for Christmas gifts.

If you are moderately attractive and have used your make-up properly, any photographer with the least bit of skill can make a good picture of you by the proper lighting and a good camera.

A photograph taken without make-up or with your usual make-up and glaring lights magnifies faults. But follow these directions for make-up and your photograph will surprise and flatter you.

First use regular stage make-up. Use a foundation cream in a pinkish beige tone over the entire face and neck. Apply evenly but freely enough to camouflage minor blemishes, freckles and shadows under your eyes and to soften all facial lines.

If your lips are full enough to spoil your appearance in ordinary photographs, apply some of your make-up base over the outer borderlines of your lips. Now apply your face powder lavishly and remove the excess with a powder blending brush.

Do not use rouge, or else use it sparingly, since it photographs as shadows and may be aging.

Use a very soft, creamy lip rouge or a liquid rouge with an oil base and apply it with a soft camel's hair brush to give definite, clearcut lines to your lips. Remember to stay well inside of the natural outlines of your lips if you want to make your mouth appear smaller.

To break the monotony of skin tone, use a faint blending of brown eye shadow over your entire lid, and over this near the lashes blend a little blue, green or violet shadow.

Before your make-up is even started, you should have your eyebrows brushed into neat, flattering lines and the stray hairs plucked away.

Now if they are nicely shaped, but a little too light in color, brush them upward and then into line with a damp brush and black or brown mascara. If your eyebrows are sparse or need extending, use a hard eyebrow pencil and go over your brows lightly several times to give a natural, but well-defined line.

Touch your upper lashes with a liberal application of mascara. Be sure that you do not use so much lash color that the lashes stick together, however.

If you have fairly nice lashes to start with, do not try to color the lower lashes. If they are very sparse, however, I think it is a good plan to touch them ever so lightly with some of the mascara.

John Swarthout of the high school dramatics department will review the opera, "Emperor Jones," for the Musical Arts club at its luncheon meeting at 12:15 p. m. tomorrow at the Doris-Kathryn tearoom.

Danger in This State Tariff!

CALIFORNIA is due for an awful kick-back from the other 47 states if she persists in the foolish and short-sighted policy of levying special taxes on goods produced elsewhere in the United States.

For instance: The $500 tax on dealers in beer made outside of California.

This levy has just been held constitutional by the U. S. supreme court. But that decision doesn't alter the fact that the tax is mighty poor policy and that it invites retaliation by other states against California agriculture and industry.

The question is raised thus by the San Bernardino Sun:

The constitution of the United States prohibits a tariff on the movement of goods across state lines. Yet it develops California has adopted certain laws that seek to avoid the constitutional prohibition. Other states are beginning to figure on how they can even up the score. Seeking the most vulnerable spot one or two states are reported to be looking into the question as to whether they can put a tax on California citrus fruits in order to finance a special inspection service for that fruit.

In the case of the beer tax the supreme court found that the twenty-first amendment (repeal) lifted the interdiction against state interference with interstate commerce so far as intoxicating beverages are concerned. This amendment, it will be recalled, prohibits the transportation or importation of such beverages into any state "in violation of the laws thereof."

But California is also experimenting with a "use tax." This tax was supposed to plug the leaks that developed with the sales tax. But apparently it goes much further than plug the leaks. It is imposing taxes on imports from other states and some of the other states do not appreciate the California viewpoint.

Evidently the framers of the constitution knew what they were doing when they provided for a prohibition against state tariffs. Here we find California pulling what some other states figure is a "fast one" in connection with the beer tax. The squabble that follows produces inspection of our so-called "use tax" that also amounts to a tariff on goods imported from other states.

Just suppose that Wisconsin—in reprisal for this unwarranted and unwise tax upon Milwaukee-brewed beer—levies a sharp assessment fee against every Wisconsin store handling California oranges, lemons, walnuts and other products.

And other states follow suit!

Such taxation would soon throttle the distribution of California products. Dealers would drop them to escape the tax, handling substitute lines from other states.

What would happen to California's immense interstate trade under such circumstances? You know the answer. It would wither and die.

Let's throw this dangerous state tariff policy overboard before it circles back like a boomerang!

That delegation to Buenos Aires should handle with care those South American liquors, whose potency is not equaled anywhere else on earth.

Those Parking Meters Again

WITH Long Beach all a-twitter over the new parking meters, Santa Ana can pick up some valuable first-hand data in case this community again considers installing them.

It's too early to judge how Long Beach motorists will react, but the first day of meter parking (Saturday) found the pros and antis battling furiously over the merits and demerits of the machines. So far, the score seems to be about 50-50.

This seems to be the usual case in cities where the meter has been installed against popular feeling, according to information gathered by Santa Ana city council and Councilman E. H. Layton who made a special trip east several months ago to investigate the idea.

After a few days of general agitation over the novelty, however, sentiment generally crystallizes in favor of the meters, it is said.

Next time you are in Long Beach, drive through the parking machine area and size it up for yourself.

It's quite likely that Santa Ana will consider the idea again one of these days—we've got to do something to ease the parking situation—and your first-hand knowledge of how the meters work in Long Beach may come in handy.

Newspapers call the new Newport-Balboa viaduct an overpass. But, like Governor Merriam says, it's an underpass for the Coast highway.

Less Liquor Drinking

BELIEVE it or not, liquor consumption is on the decline in wet states! This surprising data comes from Editorial Research Reports, which show that wet states drank less in 1935 than in any one year since 1840, with the sole exception of 1919 and the first two years that prohibition followed.

In 1929, the per capita consumption of booze was 1.86 gallons. But in 1935, the per capita consumption for wet states only, where presumably more drinking is done than in dry states, had dropped to .885 of a gallon.

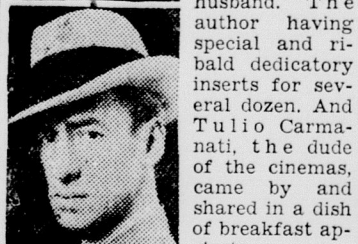

We don't know how Editorial Research checked up on drinking during prohibition years. We doubt anyone's ability to determine this accurately.

But it is encouraging to note that liquor consumption is on the downgrade. Here's hoping the trend continues!

Hitler had Mussolini decorated with a German cross. He should be careful to see that Il Duce doesn't double it and hand it back.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Diary: Betimes came one of gag dedicatory books of John Baragwanath, Neysa McMein's husband. The author having special and a-bald dedicatory inserts for several dozen. And Tullio Carmanni, the dude of the cinemas, came by and shared in a dish of breakfast apocryphs.

So working and Earl Carroll popped in on a flying visit from Hollywood studios. And an amusing bit of tosh from Sophie Tucker in London done in doggerel. So with my lady to Kate and Grantland Rice's sea and on to Harry Warner's reception for Marion Davies. Dined on smoked file of reindeer that Hattie Bell Johnston brought from Finnish Lapland, in the manner of chipped beef and tasting like it although saltier. Then finishing a magazine piece for Harry Burton and about to read Lowell Thomas' autographed biography of Tex O'Reilly.

Young James Donahue, Barbara Hutton's cousin who squired her about before her marrying days, one of the recent children scorched by theatrical fire. And is already fed up to here with the role of "angel." He launched his first quixoticism far from Broadway, in London. After a tryout in Manchester. The play had all the vicissitudes of the novice in productions including the last minute walkout of a temperamental torch singer. The experience caused the cherub-faced youngster $100,000.

No dude, the stylists say, has come within reach of the flashy Lefty Gomez, Yankee pitcher, in the sartorial sweepstakes. When he paraded Broadway he was not an ensemble but an entire production. While he likes a dash of hurrah in his habiliments experts say he has a remarkable flair for color effects and blends. He pays top prices and aside from his clothes his shirts, suits and hats are especially made. His wife is June O'Dea, who is so often confused with June Knight. But, as Bill Corum says, it is difficult to distinguish O'Dea from Knight.

Personal nomination for the gamest comeback of the socialites untrussed by the market crash—that of Cobina Wright.

Someone tells me Al Smith makes less preparation for public speech than any recognized orator. That is possibly why he appears talking so informally and often extemporaneously. He dictates a first draft while smoking a cigar and with hands folded behind, pacing up and down his offices. This is usually done a week before delivery and he puts it away and never looks at it until an hour or so before presentation. Rarely does he make revisions. His first effort stands.

Nearly every writer faces weakness of repetition. Some coined phrase striking his fancy is dragged in by the heels time and again. Hemingway has succumbed to it. So have Wells, Chesterton and even Edith Wharton and that careful selector, Arnold Bennett. Edna Ferber in "Come and Get It" used the three times, a reader points out. He ducked his head in the crook of his arm to wipe away the sweat from his brow. Shakespeare is credited with nine exact sentence repetitions.

Bagatelles: Fulton Oursler went to the Holy Land and a skeptic came away a believer. Irving Berlin is richest of the song writers. Sophie Tucker is again a rage in the London night clubs. Police Commissioner Valentine likes to top off a hard night's work with a steaming bowl of chop suey. Bill Terry slept but two hours a night, as the result of pain and worry, during the entire stretch of the world series. Rebecca West is now working on an autobiography to be published posthumously.

Young Love, 1936: A 19-year-old in a neighborhood apartment cliffed over his first love with highlights of his hair affairs. His latest throb is for a siren of the cabaret floor shows. He has squandered a month's allowance just to gaze at her five nights in a row from a ringside table. I sounded a mild alarm over the gold digging danger. Said he: "Oh, what I want is to be the hero of a love diary! It may land me in the movies."

Science News

Night football, newest of the "night" games, is giving newspaper cameramen dizzy headaches. To shoot a game in late afternoon shadows requires expensive lenses with ultra-speed film.

Night football has brought about the use of photoflash light bulbs synchronized to stop action at one two-hundredth of a second. With present photoflash equipment it is necessary for players to be within 15 to 25 feet of the cameraman. Photographic technicians are developing equipment to double this distance.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—The greatest accomplishment Roosevelt wants to put across at Buenos Aires is not on the agenda. Furthermore, the United States will not propose it. The proposal will be made by Brazil. But it will have the advance approval—in fact, the inspiration—of the United States.

It is the enlargement of the Monroe Doctrine. Under this plan all Pan-Americans, not the United States alone, would unite to prevent aggression from Europe or Asia.

To this end Brazil will propose a treaty for continental protection. It consists of two articles, in brief, simple and to the point.

The first article provides that if the "interposition of a non-American country" shall infringe upon the independence of one of the high contracting parties, or limit its sovereignty, or secure a preponderant influence in its affairs, this shall be deemed by the other powers to be an "unfriendly act."

The second article states that if the independence of one of the high contracting parties shall be menaced or endangered by a non-American state, the other contracting parties shall consult to work out a common means of protection. President Roosevelt believes such a pact would be the foundation stone of Pan-American peace and independence from the imbroglie of Europe.

SPOILED PICTURE

The President was posing for a "March of Time" newsreel. The scene was a conference between him and his secretaries. They were supposed to be engaged in weighty affairs of state. The pictures were silent.

First Colonel Marvin McIntyre brought in an important-looking paper. Mac was the height of dignity. The President took the paper, looked at it solemnly, observed: "Let's see, Mac, this is your doctor's report. Um-m-m, it looks like you can't drink any more of that wine stuff. No, you can only drink what the doctor prescribes."

The colonel vanished from the range of the lenses, barely able to restrain his laughter.

Next appeared Secretary Steve Early, also looking important. He handed the President an expense sheet, supposedly the budget. "Well, here is a report from the controller general," remarked the President. "It has to do with Steve's golf score."

Steve's unsuppressed mirth spoiled the picture.

MYSTERIOUS MEDIATOR

Able, sandy-complexioned Joseph P. Kennedy has filled many roles in his busy life. But none has been so intriguing as the one in which, mysteriously, he is now being cast.

He has been a banker, business man, broker, movie magnate, presidential adviser and first chairman of the securities and exchange commission. And now, out of the inner recesses of Wall Street comes a report that Joe is the President's secret mediator with the power interests.

Just what it is Kennedy is to mediate is not clear. The President is neither seeking nor desiring a compromise with the utilities. "I don't mediate with people I've kicked," he told a friend. "You mediate when you are kicked." Kennedy emphatically denies that the President has entrusted him with any mission.

The real story is that there is no White House power mediator. But the utilities would like to have one.

Secretly, powerful power interests are anxious to come to terms with the President. Knowing Kennedy's high standing with Roosevelt, they are using this whispering campaign to play on his vanity in the hope of engineering compromise negotiations.

The scheme is not likely to succeed for two reasons. First, Kennedy has no intention of becoming involved in the power dispute; and second, he never trades on his friendship with Roosevelt.

Note: Kennedy is slated for secretary of the treasury if and when Morgenthau leaves. Because of young Henry's long friendship with the President, he can remain in the cabinet as long as he desires. But if Morgenthau offers his resignation it will be promptly accepted, and Kennedy will succeed him.

ARTIFICIAL LEGS

Constant new developments in industry bring many requests for unusual classes of labor to W. Frank Persons, able director of the U. S. employment service. He is often hard put to fill the requirements, but he has found that a little ingenuity goes a long way. The other day a Los Angeles airplane manufacturer sent Persons a hurry call for a craftsman to trim the inside of airplane fuselages. The employment service had no craftsmen like this on its list. But that didn't stump Persons.

He sent the firm an expert woodworker who was a specialist in making artificial legs. The man got the job and fitted it to a tee. Persons is now making a nationwide canvass of WPA workers to ascertain what new skills they have acquired on work-relief projects. Early reports reveal that a surprisingly large number have acquired new trades as a result of their government-made jobs.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

The recent election restored Arkansas' able and hard-working Mrs. Hattie Caraway to her former title as the lone woman member of the senate. The other woman senator, Mrs. Huey P. Long, appointed to fill out the term of her assassinated husband, did not run for re-election. Luther Patrick, who defeated the bitterly anti-New Deal representative, George Huddleston, of Birmingham, Ala., is a popular radio wit and poet in his district. Asked if he would recite his poetry in the house, Patrick replied: "Nope, it's too darn good for those fellows."

Texas Representative James Buchanan, chairman of the potent house appropriation committee, is an omnivorous reader of wild west stories. Buchanan, famed among his colleagues as a crack poker player, for many years "packed" a gun when traveling. Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney's widely discussed bill, requiring businesses engaged in interstate commerce to take out federal charters, was once recommended to congress by President Theodore Roosevelt. President Woodrow Wilson also urged legislation along similar lines.

WANT RIGHT TO VOTE

To the Editor: Residents of the District of Columbia have all the obligations of citizens of the United States, yet are denied the right which Americans hold most dear—the right to vote; representation in government.

am seeking your aid and cooperation in remedying this unfair discrimination against 619,000 loyal, highly literate and largely native-born Americans.

The district's population (figures of the 1930 census) exceeds that of eight states, and the voting-age population is estimated at 433,000, exceeding the voting-age population of 10 states.

During the last fiscal year the District of Columbia paid in national taxes $17,322,929—more than the sum paid in such taxes by 25 of the states individually; more than was paid by nine states combined. In the levying of these taxes, and in their expenditure, our citizens had no voice.

During the World War the district sent more men to the colors than any one of 17 states, although unrepresented in the body which declared war, and prosecuted it.

The constitution-makers unintentionally failed to give congress the power (analogous to that which is possessed with regard to the admission of territories to statehood) of granting representation in congress, and in the electoral college, to the population of the district when it becomes fit.

There was introduced in the last congress a constitutional amendment which would right that wrong. It will be re-introduced in the congress which convenes in January.

Will you raise the voice of your powerful paper in behalf of this legislation, and the un-Americanized Americans of the District of Columbia? A. G. NEWMYER, Washington, D. C.

Howdy, folks! Say what you please, a real football hero is the bashful lad who turns out for cheer leader, although he suffers from a lisp.

Joe Bungstarter—When I hit a man he remembers it. Gashouse Gus—That's nothin'. When I hit a man, he doesn't.

Fame is a fleeting and ephemeral thing. What has become of the lads who wrote "The Music Goes 'Round and 'Round'?"

One Man's Opinion

EDITOR'S NOTE:—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Higher Education a la Mode

UNIVERSITY OF IOWA opens the first night club owned and operated by a university in this country. The purpose, according to the school authorities, is to furnish the students with home-town entertainment and to keep them from running around on dangerous highways. Thus does higher education reach another depth of absurdity and the silly round of softening case gets sillier, and another wallop is handed the few remnants of sturdiness in the pilgrims who trudge along the rocky road to learning.

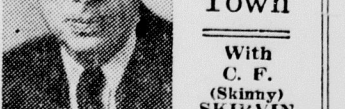

No one begrudges entertainment when it comes as relaxation from the heat and burdens of the day. But if "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" what sort of a boy is produced by all play and no work? And in countless numbers of cases the college-bred fellow is so called because he is getting a four-year loaf. Doting parents would do well to take with considerable caution the lamentations of their offspring on the grinding toil which they suffer at the hands of heartless, slave-driving professors. Aside from penal institutions, perhaps the laziest places in America are the vine-clad, doistered halls and shaded campuses, where the most popular period in the day is the lunch hour and the heaviest exercise is scratching matches on the soles of shoes and lifting the heavy chunks of wood to the waiting fag, drooping listlessly from tired mouths.

And so a great state university must entertain its students to protect them from the hazards of the highway. And so the pampering

And we build the ladder by which we rise From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies, And mount to the summit round by round."

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

Capt. Don Wilkie and Joe Skidmore of Laguna Beach have launched a war to the death against starfish, which devour mussels, and they invite volunteers. I'm going down, inasmuch as I can fulfill one of the requirements. They say to bring an old suit of clothes. Why, you couldn't keep me out. Fact is, I won't have to make any change. I'm ready to jump right in. Starfish may be worth something, but so far nobody has discovered any value. On the other hand, mussels are nice, chummy companions, and need protection. Therefore the battle of the starfish starts at Laguna Beach, and in all probability will end there, as Wilkie and Skidmore usually get their "man."

Every passing day is just one less until Christmas, so do your shopping early.

Now that the beach season has subsided and most of the bathing suits have been consigned to the mothball vaults, I've been offered a cottage by the sea, with nothing to see but the sea. This invitation coming so late in the season, and in the shadows of a long experience, could infer most anything, but I accept the courtesy as having the elements of good intentions, and that's where the other fellow can go, too, if so inclined.

Trouble with the Thanksgiving day dinner was that there were not enough rest periods.

The merchant windows are beginning to indicate the approach of the Christmas season. There are so many dolls on display that the pedestrian occasionally takes his eyes off the street parade to view the inanimate offerings, which later on will find themselves in the arms of the little children. There is nothing that gives a child so much pleasure as a doll, and there is nothing that gives an adult more trouble.

An excited radio announcer, giving some vital football statistics, reports the age of one of the players at 195 years, and weight 22 pounds. That's where age and weight appear to clash with normal figures.

This is the way the story comes to me, but I don't have to believe it. Valencia off-bloom picking by a packing house is being delayed until the sugar content appears in a certain grower's fruit, while most of the others can meet the test. But if you believed everything you hear, how are you going to keep history straight?

Within the next few days the purpose of the Elks charity fund will be explained over KVOE. A representative of the order will present the plans and purposes of this fraternal organization. If your benevolence is able to extend beyond those to whom you feel obligated, the Elks will do their part toward bringing sunlight into homes which might otherwise be dark on Christmas day.

When you back your car from the curb, and an approaching vehicle hits you, you may not be able to collect damages, but you are sure to collect a crowd. The crash is the signal for the curious to gather. After that it is just the routine between the involved owners, taking car numbers, and other details which go into a police report.

Tex Bland's rodeo only afforded more convincing evidence that I am in favor of the other fellow riding the horse. No premium would be sufficiently attractive to persuade me to enter the contest. I might be persuaded to don a costume just for atmospheric purposes, but as an actual participant—well, my answer is NO!

Won't be long now before you'll be looking for a new calendar.

What I should like to know is who detoured the showers predicted for Santa Ana last Saturday. Milan Miller was so pepped up over the arrival of the storm he turned in a precipitation prediction. But the last time I saw him he was singing, how dry I am.

No use to "crab." The days are shorter and darker and the light bill will naturally be higher, and its getting colder and you'll turn on the gas heater, so the warmth bill will go up, but you will be more comfortable. Just thought I would mention it so as to lay the foundation for a complacent acceptance of the utility statements for the next few months.

Looking over the calendar, I find a few historical incidents which arrive ahead of Santa Claus. On Saturday, Dec. 5, 1933, the eighteenth amendment was repealed, and a man now has a hard time getting up to the bar. Dec. 14, 1911, Amundsen found the South Pole, and nothing has been done about it. Wilbur Wright made his first airplane flight Dec. 17, 1903. The Pilgrim fathers arrived Dec. 21, 1620, which, by the way, is the shortest day of the year, and then we have Christmas on the 25th of December, which most all of us remember when we do not of other dates heretofore mentioned.
